

ST. CLAIR TO RUN

Six Seek Supervisor Post

The announcement of the resignation of County Supervisor Edward R. McDonald last week has touched off a flood of entries into the race for his seat. Among the first to announce his intentions was former Daly City Mayor Bob St. Clair.

Other office seekers include: Adolph C. Harrison of Burlingame; San Mateo Councilman Roy Archibald; College of San Mateo Trustee U. S. Simonds Jr.; Undersheriff Wesley A. Fomeroy, and County Planning Commissioner Robert Levy.

McDonald sent a letter to Governor Brown last Tuesday stating his intention to resign as of March 1. In a previous letter to the governor, McDonald said he was thinking about resigning and mentioned that Levy would be his choice for the job.

The supervisor, a former Burlingame mayor who has served on the county board for nearly a quarter of a century, has been ill for some time after suffering a broken hip and confined to his home. It is not expected that he will be able to return to the board by March 1.

Levy had this to say last week:

"In the past when speculation has centered around possible candidates for supervisor representing the county's second district, I have made it clear that I was not interested in seeking the office as long as Mr. McDonald occupied the seat on the board. I have enjoyed—and continue to enjoy—my work as a member of the San Mateo County Planning Commission, a position I have held for nearly ten years.

"Now that Mr. McDonald has taken himself out of the picture, I would like to give consideration to the possibility of seeking the post. I will be discussing the matter with my wife and family, friends and advisors, in the next few days and perhaps will have something more to say on the subject within a couple of weeks."

Archibald said that he had sent a letter to Governor Brown seeking the appointment to the district which includes Burlingame, Millbrae, East Palo Alto and portions of Hillsborough and San Mateo.

He resides at 616 Edna Street, San Mateo, and is currently West Coast representative of National Educational Association with headquarters in Burlingame.

"I will have to curtail my NEA work if I am appointed,"

he said. Archibald has been a county Democratic leader for many years and has lived in San Mateo County for 19 years. He taught at College of San Mateo for 11 years before joining N.E.A. He has served on the city council since 1957 having been mayor and vice mayor at various times.

Simonds who is currently business manager and secretary-treasurer of the County Building Trades Council, president of the Peninsula Memorial Blood Bank and trustee at the College of San Mateo said:

"I am today announcing my

Operation Big Lift

IT TOOK two huge cranes to hoist this 38-ton, pre-cast concrete radio tower into place at the new Daly City Civic Center on Sullivan Avenue Monday afternoon. The tower will be used for police department communications and was designed to blend in with the over-all architectural concept of the Civic Center. Each of the cranes used in the lifting operation was capable of hoisting 60 tons. (Post-Times Photo by Bill Koska)

Open Space Proposal Is Turned Down

D.C. Withholds Action for Now

By JOHN HORGAN

The Daly City City Council has declined to act at this time on a proposal from the city of Brisbane that North County cities recommend to the County of San Mateo that open space be preserved on San Bruno Mountain.

The council decided not to act after listening Monday night to William O'Rourke of the Regional Recreation Commission who stated that "Daly City ought to wait and see what the commission comes up with in its new survey." And he added: "We have until the middle of April to come up with a regional park plan for the county. I would recommend that the council wait and see it."

O'Rourke revealed that the feeling of the commission was that a $50 million bond issue might be proposed to cover the entire county.

D.C. to Poll Citizens On Bus Service

Daly City residents soon will receive a questionnaire by mail, designed to provide the city with data to support an expanded and improved bus system.

The system would connect with the proposed Bay Area Rapid Transit station at Knowles Avenue and Junipero Serra Boulevard as well as with some of the San Francisco Municipal Railway bus lines.

Last year, a plan was proposed that would expand the bus lines into Daly City, but the proposal is still pending.

The new survey would give Daly City officials concrete data upon which to form possible cost summaries to show to San Francisco.

'UNPROFESSIONAL CONDUCT'

Lynch Loses Case; He'll Appeal Ruling

Charges of unprofessional conduct brought against Pacifica teacher Alfred R. Lynch were sustained last week by the County Board of Education and his county teaching certificate was revoked.

Documents attesting to the dismissal were served on him by Frederick Lucas, superintendent of the Laguna Salada School District.

Lucas said Lynch went off the district payroll as of the end of the workday Thursday.

His attorney, Clarence Knight, said an appeal will be filed in Superior Court and will be taken to the United States Supreme Court, if necessary.

Before Thomas Needham, the board's special counsel for the case, had finished reading the decision, a number of Lynch's supporters rose from their seats and stomped from the room.

Others stayed to glower at District Attorney Keith C. Soisson when he went forward to compliment the board for its handling of the case.

Those who had staged the walkout gathered in the lobby outside the hearing room and sang loud and spirited versions of the National Anthem and "Gawd Christian Soldiers."

The charges against Lynch had arisen from his crusade against what he called an "anti-Christian" attitude on the part of teachers and administrators in the Laguna Salada School District.

Shouting to be heard over the singing, Lynch told reporters that he "didn't expect any more from these people," but was disappointed, nevertheless. He said he thought the board "felt under some kind of obligation out of misguided loyalty to the county superintendent or the Laguna Salada board."

"I had hoped this board would represent the people and not those who pressured them into (Please See Page 2, Column 2)

'Fog Belt' Accusation Is Denied

Shaw Replies To Charge

An accusation by a member of the San Mateo County Regional Recreation Commission that a "fog belt" was drawn eight or ten years ago that would all but cut out the North County from any share of county recreation moneys drew a flat denial from the County Director of Parks and Recreation yesterday.

Ralph Shaw, replying to the charge made Monday night at the Daly City Council meeting by William O'Rourke, said:

"The commission has never taken an official stand on that (the fog belt) matter. I was at the meeting in question (eight to ten years ago) when the statement was made. It was made in an off-hand way and has no official merit."

Shaw went on to say that the commission is making an extensive survey into the recreation needs of the entire county on the basis of need.

"Money is not the prime concern in this survey," explained Shaw. "We are concerned in this survey with the needs of the people first."

The comprehensive report, to be submitted to the County Board of Supervisors sometime in April, will be made available to all county city councils and city managers.

In regard to fog, Shaw stated that he felt that the people will live, work and play in their own area regardless of the weather. "The remark about a 'fog line' has been taken out of context."

O'Rourke's remarks Monday came in reply to comments from Daly City resident George Kirchhubel at the council meeting (Please See Page 2, Column 5)

Pacifica Bus Firm to Seek City Subsidy

A request for a subsidized intracity bus service will be considered by Pacifica city councilmen at their weekly meeting at 8 tonight.

John Cushing, operator of the expanded El Mar Bus Transit Service in Pacifica (Little Red Bus), is asking the city for a service contract partnership at a cost of $400 per month to the city.

In his letter, Cushing states that hourly bus service to all parts of Pacifica could be maintained under city contract. A future feeder line to a Bay Area Rapid Transit District station also could be instituted, he said.

In other business, the council will hear an appeal from Congregation Anshe Shalom on a Planning Commission recommendation that the congregation's application to build a synagogue be approved (Please See Page 2, Column 7)

COMMITTEE HEARING

JUHSD to Push Unification Plan

By DON MILLER

A strong stand on behalf of unification of the Jefferson Union High School District was agreed upon by district trustees Monday night when a special state-appointed review committee meets next Tuesday to study unification.

The district steadfastly pressed for unification along its own boundaries when unification was being studied by the old San Mateo County Committee on School Organization.

Trustee James Cooper suggested that copies of a prior district resolution in support of unification of the district be distributed at the review group's meeting, which will be held at 8 p.m. in the Little Theatre of Westmoor High School.

The group was named after the state board had twice turned down the county committee's recommendation to split the high school district in half.

Under the law governing the review group's scope of activity, the only unification plans it can consider are the split-district proposal and the proposal to unify the high school district.

District Supt. Edward Morgan urged all board members to attend Tuesday's session, noting that with the exception of two members, no one on the six-member board knows anything about North County unification.

Cooper will act as the board's spokesman Tuesday. In other action, trustees heard a report that eminent domain proceedings have been instituted against the Crocker Land Co. (Please See Page 2, Column 4)

OFFICIALS REPORT:

Rats No Longer Plague Westlake

Residents of the Westlake district of Daly City were thanking their own version of the Pied Piper today for ridding that area of a particularly obnoxious form of roof rat.

Plagued for weeks late last year by the supposedly "clean" rodent, Westlake dwellers took their cause to the Westlake Homeowners Association and got results.

The association, with the aid of city and county officials, disseminated information and poison, which has apparently rid the region of the rodents.

Benjamin Waxman, president of the association, said last week that "It appears the scare is definitely over. We aren't getting nearly as many calls at the association as we used to."

Daly City City Manager Edward Frank commented that his office "hadn't heard a thing about it (the rat scare) for weeks." As far as Frank is concerned, "I haven't really given the matter a thought."

The only party who isn't convinced that the situation is now well in hand is San Mateo County Sanitarian Reint Lingemann. He says he is sitting tight.

A Ceremony and Celebration Three Daly City Scouts Receive Eagle Badges

When a Boy Scout troop confers an eagle badge on one of its members, it's cause for ceremony.

When the troop confers three eagle badges at one time on three members, it's cause for ceremony and celebration. Well, they held a celebration last week in Troop 248, sponsored by the Westlake Improvement Association of Daly City, for three boys who had gained the coveted rank.

Since the troop was founded in 1958, only seven other members had reached this top echelon level of Scouting. The new Eagles are:

David Bauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bauer of 73 Oakmont Drive, Daly City, a freshman at Westmoor High School.

Kenneth Perluss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Perluss of 24 Elmwood Drive, Daly City, a sophomore at Lick-Wilmerding High School in San Francisco.

Richard Polonsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E.

Polonsky of 12 Fleetwood Drive, Daly City, a freshman at Westmoor High School. The senior Polonsky is a Daly City Councilman.

Bauer joined the troop in February of 1962. He has served as patrol leader of the Wolf Patrol and is serving as assistant senior patrol leader. He was named a member of the Order of the Arrow, Royanah Lodge, in July of last year.

Perluss joined Troop 248 in November of 1961. He has served as senior patrol leader and is chairman of the Lake Merced District, Junior Leaders Training Committee. He became a member of the Order of Arrow in July last year.

Polonsky has been a member of Troop 248 since June of 1962. He served as assistant senior patrol leader and is now serving as an instructor. He became a member of the Order of the Arrow in July of last year. At Westmoor, he is president of his class.

TRUSTEES MULL SUGGESTIONS

North CSM Name Debated

Suggested names for the new North County campus of the College of San Mateo, as well as proposed names for two other proposed names for two other viewed last week by the board of trustees of the college.

The names had been proposed by a special faculty committee, appointed by Julio L. Bortolazzo, president of CSM.

For the north campus, scheduled to open in 1968 in San Bruno, these names were proposed: Skyline College, Sanchez College, Skyline Heights Campus, North Campus and Ortega College.

For the south campus, also scheduled for 1968 opening near the Farm Hills area on the Redwood City-Woodside line: Fair Oaks College, Portola College, Arguello College, Oak Knoll Heights Campus and South Campus.

For the coastal campus, earmarked for construction in the late 1970s or early '80s: Coast College, Coastside College, Pilarcitos College, Ocean Heights Campus, West Campus and Spanishtown College.

Dr. Bortolazzo told trustees there is strong faculty sentiment in favor of tying in all campus names with that of College of San Mateo.

The faculty committee said this might take the form of "San Mateo Skyline College" (north), "San Mateo Fair Oaks College" (south) and "San Mateo Coastside College," for example, or "College of San Mateo, Skyline Heights Campus," "College of San Mateo, Oak Knoll Heights Campus," and "College of San Mateo, Ocean Heights Campus," or even "CSM, North Campus," "CSM, South Campus," and "CSM, West Campus."

If such a pattern were followed, as is the case with the branches of University of California, the board also might have to consider renaming College of San Mateo perhaps "San Mateo Bayview College," or "College of San Mateo, College Heights Campus," or "CSM Central Campus," trustees said.

D.C. Thespian Joins Troupe

Miss Alexander has appeared in a number of Bay Area dramatic productions over the past several years. The DiMaggio company will present a show at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Alameda High School auditorium.

LET IT NEVER again be charged that this column too often shuns the sports fan's lifeblood—statistics—in its never-ending pursuit to enlighten our readers on what we don't know. A WEEK OR SO ago the American Football Association presented President Johnson with the Tuss McLaughry Award for Outstanding Citizenship. Which is as ridiculous as naming the Pope "Catholic of the Month."

We mean, if President Johnson is ANYTHING but an outstanding citizen, we're all in more trouble than we ever thought we were.

But that wasn't the main point of this item.

Upon his acceptance of the award, the President said, "If all nations conducted their affairs with the same fair play the game of football stands for, peace in the world would have been secured long ago."

Now, such a statement could mean only one of three things: The President is stupid (which he isn't), the President is naive (which he certainly isn't), the world is in a catastrophic state (which is the only reasonable answer).

That one statement concerning a football award, therefore, told us more about the state of the union and the world than any number of more official public statements could have done.

What the President was admitting, in effect, was that all nations do WORSE than such niggardly little things, as continually breaking contracts, virtually abducting valuable human properties to keep them from the reaches of competitors (who may be able to offer them more), placing the "pay-off" above human values, etc.

Colts Tied For Lead EC Battles Sharks

The El Camino High School Colts take on Westmoor today and South San Francisco Friday, and Coach Warren Hagberg figures the Colts are in tough.

"We can't overlook Westmoor," he said. "They've got a winning tradition. And South San Francisco is a real big one for us."

The Colts take a 3-0 record into today's game after turning back Oceana 62-49, last Friday, to share an unbeaten record with South San Francisco and Jefferson.

The Colts scored quickly and often in the first half, building a 10-point lead at the end of the first quarter and 13 points at the intermission.

Senior forward Mickey Ackley poured in 14 of his game high of 20 points in the first half. Oceana had difficulty penetrating El Camino's zone defense and when they did the Sharks missed the close-in shots.

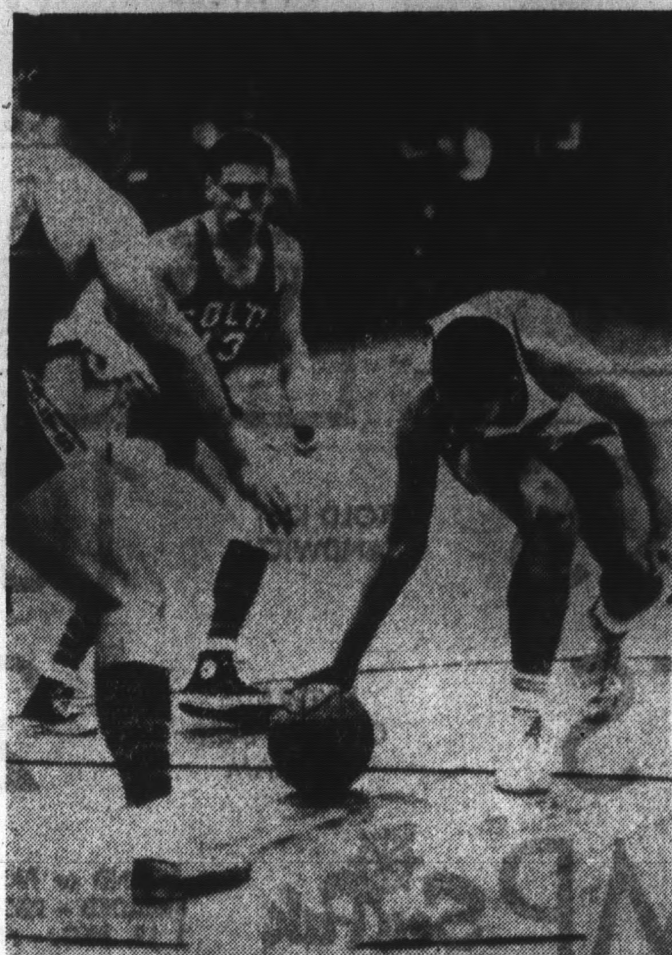

Sophomore center Jim McCaughey kept the Sharks in the game with ten points in the first half.

It was more of the same in the second half. Colt reserves controlled the boards and the ball to keep Oceana at a distance.

Big Ed Green gathered in 19 rebounds, mainly in the final half. Gordon Sanoff chipped in 13 Red and Gray points. Dick Williams joined him with 10.

Oceana Coach Rick Warne got a fine job out of two youngsters. Tim McCaughey scored 15 points and Tim Sershen pumped home 12.

"I was pleased with the good team co-operation of the boys today. And was especially happy with the fine job Rich Swain did. It was his best game to date," commented Colt Coach Hagberg.

Indians Rout Cougars For 3rd Straight

The North Peninsula League basketball season isn't getting any easier for first-year member Half Moon Bay.

The neophyte Cougars from the Coastside, who just entered the league this season, here yet to win a game. They dropped their third straight league contest Friday in a lop-sided rout with Jefferson, 79-41.

Paced by Willie Redmond's 15 points, an even dozen Jeff cagers scored for the visitors, boosting the Indians to a 20-11 first period lead and a 40-24 margin at halftime.

In the third quarter, Jeff-

Duerloo Hero As TN Edges Rams, 38-37

It seems that Westmoor High school has acquired a habit of losing to Terra Nova by one point every time the two teams meet in a basketball game.

The Tigers throttled the Rams for the second time this season by a single digit, 38-37, Friday at Terra Nova High School.

Senior guard Mike Duerloo sparked a fourth quarter rally for Terra Nova, scoring 13 of the Tigers' 15 points in the period, including a 20-foot jump shot that won the game with 30 seconds left.

Westmoor, in a hurry to score, made valuable ball control errors and thus handed the ball over to the Tigers twice in the closing seconds.

After what promised to be an outrageously slow game, a hectic fourth quarter brought the fans to their feet for the entire period to see the nip and tuck battle.

The spectators almost fell asleep in the first quarter, as the 6-3 period score should indicate. But a scrambling second period awoke them, and kept them alive until the half when the scoring stopped at 17-15, Terra Nova.

Gary Anible of Westmoor pumped a 20-foot jump shot to tie the score, 17-17, as the third period began. Then guard John Heick broke the Tigers' grasp with an easy set to make it 19-17. From there, the Rams pulled out ahead, outscoring the Tigers, 15-6, and taking a 30-22 lead into the fourth period.

Last Wednesday once-perennial power of the North Peninsula League recorded its first win in ten games yesterday, downing Oceana, 52-38, on the Rams' hard-court.

The victory gave Westmoor a 1-3 mark in NPL play and lifted them out of the cellar.

The Rams, trailing only once, 3-2, in the opening minutes, built their lead up to five points, 11-6, at the end of the first quarter and never looked back.

"Our boys looked ragged, but since it was our first win we'll take it any way we can get it," Giammona stated.

The Rams, who have been having their troubles with a young, inexperienced team, rode to victory on the shooting of Grady Proctor, John Heick and Corky Phelps.

Proctor, only a sophomore, scored all 14 of his total points in the first half and enabled the Rams to take a 31-15 lead off the court at intermission.

Bad memories of the past seemed to catch up with the Rams in the third period as they went into a frigid spell.

JEFF, EC CHALLENGE

Big Week Looms For S.S.F. Rivals

By JOHN HORGAN

South San Francisco High School, the dominant force in the North Peninsula League and the heavy favorite to win its first basketball crown, faces its toughest league assignments of the season this week — beginning this afternoon.

The Warriors (3-0 in league play and 9-2 for the year) tackle Jefferson (3-0) in Daly City today at 3 p.m.

Friday night, Bill Purcell's outfit hosts El Camino (3-0) in an 8:30 p.m. tussle.

If the Warriors win both tilts they will be well on their way to winning the championship. A loss or two could cause a drastic re-evaluation of relative strength.

In other games today, also at 3 p.m., El Camino travels to Westmoor (1-3) and Half Moon Bay (0-3) hosts Terra Nova (2-2).

On Friday afternoon at 3, Jeff journeys to Terra Nova and HMB will host Oceana.

But the key contests pit the three top units in the league in direct competition with one another.

Both El Camino and Jefferson, league observers say, can beat South S.F. on a given night. The Warriors are not unbeatable. But neither Jeff nor the Colts have a one-two front court combination like Greg Jones and Jim Henry.

The potential of this pair of forwards was amply displayed in last week's Warrior game with Terra Nova.

Henry hit for 34 points and Jones for 32 for a total of 66.

Ram Athletes Get Honors

Westmoor High School fall athletes were honored at a steak dinner in their honor last week.

Head football coach Pete Matasi awarded letters to members of his team.

The Outstanding Player award was given to John Lanthier, a tackle. Lanthier is student body president. He was an all-North Peninsula League interior lineman on both offense and defense.

Grant Easley was awarded the Outstanding Player Award at the frosh-soph level.

Ed Temple was given the Outstanding Player honor for cross-country runners.

Dynamic Duo Leads S.S.F. Over Tigers

It is never too late to win a ball game.

That is the axiom which the South San Francisco High School basketball team applied last week as the warriors blew the visiting Terra Nova Tigers off the court in the second half for an 85-60 North Peninsula League win.

The victory was South S.F.'s third in league play and its seventh in succession.

However, the final score was hardly the total picture of the ball game. The scrappy Tigers fought hard throughout the first half. Shooting exceptionally well from the floor, guards Jim Bresnahan and Mike Duerloo hit for 10 and 12 points, respectively, in the first two quarters, and the Terra Nova crew left the court at intermission trailing by only two, 37-35.

But once again the "Dynamic Duo" of Greg Jones and Jim Henry proved too much for the opposition to overcome. The devastating one-two scoring punch of Jones and Henry accounted for 38 Warrior points on the scoreboard in the second half alone.

Rich Burts' Coastside hit a cold shooting streak early in the fourth quarter that proved to be their downfall as the Warriors wrapped it up, outscoring in the final half.

In warming up for their head-on clash with contender Jefferson next Wednesday, the scoring-minded Warriors shot at a 54 per cent clip for the entire second half.

Statistically, the towering Henry led all scorers with 34 and hustled 22 rebounds. Jones pumped in 32 points and added ten rebounds.

Terra Nova's determined guard combo of Bresnahan and Duerloo wound up with 20 and 19 respectively.

The Kansas City Athletics will play 28 exhibition games before the start of the 1966 American League baseball season. Twelve of them will be at Bradenton, Fla., where they train.

Louanne's Datebook

By LOUANNE HEATH

THIS COLUMN usually doesn't express any opinion on things political but, I just can't forego a mention of those delightful signs, favoring passage of the school bonds, which suddenly popped up in so many windows just prior to the election!

No matter what opinion you may have had on the issue of school bonds, you must admit that the Jefferson California Teachers Association exhibited a good deal of talent and inventiveness when members created those bits of eye-catching propaganda.

PURCHASED YOUR tickets for the Our Lady of Mercy Fashion Show, "Graceful Interlude," yet?

According to Mrs. Kathryn Glebow, publicity chairman for the Westlake Catholic Women, tickets for the February 5 event are already on sale and now is the time to call Mrs. John Cresalia, PL 5-8153 or Mrs. Frank Kelchava, PL 5-7732, to make your reservations.

Again this year Charles Gould and his string group will travel to the Fairmont Hotel in San Francisco, from their usual stand at the Holiday Hotel in Reno, to provide the musical accompaniment for the lovely ladies of the parish and the marvelous clothes they will be modeling.

Planning continues for this annual gala which always provides a maximum of fun and relaxation, and it should be a real bargain at $4.50 for luncheon and the style show.

A BIG PAT on the back is due the Daly City Firemen who, on their off duty days, distributed over 300 March of Dimes cans to stores in Daly City.

The gentlemen came forward and most graciously volunteered their services after they learned that Mrs. Peter Markovich, scheduled to do the distribution chores, was hobbling about in a cast.

YVONNE BURK of Daly City will be the hostess when members of the San Francisco Alumnae Chapter of the Alpha Iota Business Sorority hold their monthly business meeting on next Tuesday evening.

The ladies will meet in Miss Burk's apartment to hear her offer a report on the progress of plans for the North District Meeting for the sorority's Western Association to be held this spring. Miss Burk is to be the general chairman of the convention, according to Mrs. James McCraney, corresponding secretary for the unit.

A PANEL, comprised of one parent, a teacher and three representatives of the Seventeenth district P-TA will discuss "How Primary Attitudes are Derived from the Home"; the community influence on the children; how the school can work with the home and the home with the school; affects of relatives and playmates on children; parents wanting to cut their children's lives out for them; children's interpretation and evaluation of their community, and children's reaction to what school expects of them, during a symposium to be held in the Avalon Elementary School tomorrow evening at 8.

According to Mrs. James Morena, publicity chairman for the Avalon School P-TA, it is hoped that the audience will talk with the panel, suggesting and commenting from the floor at any time during the program.

Refreshments will be served following the symposium and the public is invited to take part in the activities of the evening.

Advance ticket sales for the St. Patrick's Day Dance, March 12, at the Brentwood Lodge will also go on sale during the meeting at a cost of $2 per person. The dance is scheduled for March 12, Mrs. Mareno indicates.

THE PACIFICA BRANCH of the American Fuchsia Society held its first 1966 meeting last week in the Sharp Park School, according to Mrs. Olive Prentice, corresponding secretary.

Pruning and repotting were discussed and refreshments served following the business meeting.

DR. JAMES F. HADSELL from the United Campus Christian Fellowship at the Presbyterian Westminster House on the U.C. at Berkeley Campus, and Judge Fitzgerald Ames will share the spotlight during Sunday's meeting of the South of Mt. Davidson Church's instructional series at 3 p.m.

The public is invited to hear the two honored guests speak on "Christian Fellowship Today" and "The Judeo-Christian Responsibility in the Changing World" in Lakeside Presbyterian Church, Nineteenth Avenue at Eucalyptus Drive in San Francisco.

TICKETS TO the Mardi Gras dinner-dance and fashion show being sponsored by the Sodality of Our Lady of the Assumption at St. Thomas Moore Church have gone on sale and interested persons are urged to buy their tickets soon.

According to Mrs. Mario Mangini, publicity chairman for the affair, the dinner-dance committee has made arrangements to have Maurice Wolahan and his orchestra provide the music for the affair when it is held in the Villa Hotel in San Mateo.

The gowns, to be modeled by professional models, will be provided by the H. Liebes Department Store in San Francisco and Margery Preston will be the fashion co-ordinator and show commentator.

Male fashions will also be featured with the attire for gentlemen being provided by Brooks Bros.

Mrs. Wil Medeiros is the general chairman of the event and assisting her are Mrs. Lewis Banks, reservations chairman; Mrs. Eugene Klep, printing and programs; Mrs. Bert Heineman, promotional chairman; Mrs. Harold Wiese, hostesses, and the decorations will be done by Mrs. Lester Hagen and her committee.

Cost of tickets for the evening will be $9.25 per person, Mrs. Mangini announced and you may reserve your tickets now by calling Mrs. Banks, 333-1205.

THE MEMBERS OF the Association for Childhood Education will hear Dr. Mary Lane of San Francisco State College speak on "Project Headstart" as a part of their February 8 meeting which is designed to deal, in a broad sense, with the implications for ACE members of the Economics Opportunity Act.

The meeting is being scheduled for 3:30 to 5 p.m. in the Colma K-6 School.

Members of the local ACE unit are also involved in plans for the March California ACE Study Conference, "The World and the Classroom," to be held in San Francisco at the Hilton Hotel.

Daly City's Mrs. Mary Wade, is in charge of hospitality for the three-day conclave.

SSF Parish To Present Fashions

"Erin go Braigh" is the name selected for St. Veronica's Parish's annual Sew and Show Fashion Show to be presented on Saturday, February 19, at the school hall.

Chairman, Mrs. John Vick, has captured an Irish mood for the event with the help of special decorations, costumes and entertainment.

The theme will be further carried out by the St. Veronica's School cheer leaders, dressed in their green and white costumes, who will serve as junior hostesses for the show.

The girls include: Kathleen Ahern, Elizabeth Bues, Eileen Burns, Nancie Ferro, Margot Fourie and Linda Keane.

Committee chairmen include: Mrs. Firmin Voges, Mrs. Martin Abaurrea and Mrs. William Dondoro, decorations; Mrs. John Harness, programs; Mrs. Peter Rossi, refreshments; Mrs. Joseph Armato and Mrs. Neal LeHane, tickets; Mrs. Robert Stookey, special awards; Mrs. John Owens and Mrs. Paul Millett, models; Mrs. Michael Raddie, publicity, and Mrs. Jack Ferro, hostesses.

Tickets will be available at St. Veronica's after all the masses on Sunday, February 13, or may be obtained by contacting the chairman or committee members.

The show will benefit the St. Veronica's school fund.

Native Daughters Install Their New Set of Officers

A festive evening was enjoyed last week by the 65 members and guests of La Paz Parlor No. 326, Native Daughters of the Golden West at Nicks' restaurant in Pacifica.

Two important events were celebrated: the installation of the newly elected officers for 1966 and the fourth anniversary of the institution of La Paz Parlors.

The following officers were installed: Griggi and Mary Nash; inside sentinel, Margery Smith, and outside sentinel, Dorothy Walsh.

Sugar... 'n' Spice

By NELL NORTON

SINCE LAST WEEK was devoted to cakes I feel there should be a change in subject matter today. Therefore we'll consider two recipes for a luncheon menu. Mrs. Dolores Healy, who lives at 1570 Thirty-third Avenue in San Francisco was nice enough to share these recipes with us:

DEVILED CRAB

- 1 onion
- 1/2 green pepper
- 2 large stalks celery
- 4 tbsp. butter
- 1 can (2 1/2 size) solid pack tomatoes
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
- Salt and pepper
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 to 1 1/2 cups crab
- 1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
- Bread crumbs or cracker meal

Chop onion, green-pepper and celery, then cook until soft in the melted butter. Add solid pack tomatoes and cook slowly for one hour.

Mix flour, dry mustard, salt and pepper to taste, with water. Add to tomato mixture and boil. Add crab and Worcestershire sauce. Blend.

Bake in shells or ramekins with buttered bread crumbs or cracker meal and cheese over top. Bake about 15 minutes in 350-degree oven, or until brown on top and heated through. Serves eight.

Note: The tomato mixture can be made ahead and just add crab and bake when needed.

SALADS ARE an important part of any meal, they provide nourishment, add color and a variety of flavors. Fresh greens, tossed with a flavorful dressing, give interest, food value, and a wonderful taste to meals.

We don't have to limit ourselves to greens: tomatoes, cucumbers, celery, cabbage and grated carrots can add texture and color to any salad.

We can always bring a great fruit salad to the table, and here, the choice of ingredients is large. Oranges, apples, bananas, grapefruits, pears and pineapples are always available to our markets.

A Waldorf salad of diced apples, celery, nuts and dressing makes a delicious treat. A particularly nice dressing for Waldorf salad is this whipped cream dressing:

WHIPPED CREAM DRESSING

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 tbsp. flour
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 2 tbsp. salad oil
- 3 tbsp. lemon juice
- 4 tbsp. orange juice
- 1 cup pineapple juice
- 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped

Mix sugar and flour; add beaten eggs, salad oil, lemon, orange and pineapple juice. Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and let stand until cold. Then fold in the whipped cream. Makes 2 cups.

AS YOU CAN SEE this makes a generous amount of dressing. You can always cut the ingredients in half to accommodate a smaller salad. Of if you prefer a simpler dressing, combine mayonnaise and enough fruit juice to make it blend well with the salad.

Molded salads are always a great favorite. This one that Dolores served is quite delicious and is easy to make:

APPLE CIDER SALAD

- 1 pkg. lemon gelatin
 - 2 cups apple cider
 - Avocado
 - 1 cup drained pineapple bits
- Dissolve gelatin in one cup hot cider. Mix well, then add remaining cold cider. Jell until syrupy, then add cubed avocado and drained pineapple bits. Pour into individual molds and chill.
- When ready to serve, arrange molded salad on lettuce leaves and top with mayonnaise that has been thinned with pineapple juice or use your favorite fruit dressing.
- This amount makes four generous servings.

I STARTED by saying we'd have two recipes but then found that I have the recipe for the cake which topped off this luncheon and feel you should share in it too.

WINE CAKE

- 1 pkg. yellow cake mix
 - 1 pkg. instant vanilla pudding
 - 4 eggs
 - 1/2 cup sherry wine
 - 1/2 cup vegetable oil
 - 1 teaspoon nutmeg
- In a large mixing bowl combine the cake mix, instant vanilla pudding, eggs, sherry wine, oil and nutmeg. Beat five minutes. Bake in greased and floured tube pan in 350-degree oven for 45 minutes.

Engagement Couple Announced Will Wed

Mrs. Virginia LeTourneau of 300 Palmcrest Avenue, Daly City, has announced the engagement of her daughter, Stephanie Jean, to James Paterson Hunt.

He is the son of Mrs. Doris Hunt of 52 Woodside Drive, Daly City, and Raymond Hunt of 1301 South Gate Avenue, Daly City.

Stephanie attended Westmoor High School and was affiliated with the international order of rainbow girls. The future groom attended Westmoor and the College of San Mateo.

He is currently employed by United Airlines. He is in the Marine Corps Reserves.

No date has been set for the wedding.

BUTTER COOKIES

When you prepare cookies rich in butter or other fat, it is not necessary as a rule to grease the cookie sheets.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Langsam of 289 Belhaven Avenue, Daly City, have announced the engagement of their daughter Marsha to Allan Berenstein of San Francisco.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Berenstein.

Marsha is a graduate of Westmoor High School and is attending the College of San Mateo.

Allan is a student at San Francisco State College.

A summer wedding has been planned.

COFFEE COOKIES

Meringue cookies may be flavored with instant coffee, if you like. A teaspoon of the powdered coffee used in a two-egg-white meringue will be about right.

Women Set Luncheon

MRS. GERALD FRIED, Mrs. Sue Garbo, and Mrs. John Fabbri make preparations for a luncheon and fashion show to be conducted by members of the All Souls Mothers' Club at the Cabana Hotel in Palo Alto February 5.

South S.F. Mothers To Hold Fashion Program

"Hawaiian Holiday" is the theme chosen for the luncheon and fashion show to be held Saturday, February 5, at noon, at the Cabana Hotel in Palo Alto by members of the All Souls Mothers' Club.

Fashions are by Jon Robert of Stonestown, furs by Bernards and jewelry by Granat brothers.

Chairman, Mrs. Ted Galeotti and co-chairman, Mrs. Pete DaPrato have announced that as an added convenience, buses will be available for one dollar round trip. The bus will leave All Souls school yard at 11 a.m. and return at 4 p.m. You may make your bus reservation at the same time you make your luncheon reservation.

Commentator for the fashions will be Ann Middleton, store co-ordinator for Jon Robert of Stonestown. Make-up will be the Mission Distributors of Holiday Magic Cosmetics.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Michael Cesano and Mrs. Edward Campbell at the All Souls School Library.

This fashion show will benefit the All Souls building fund.

VEGETABLE OMELET

When there is a little left-over cooked vegetable in your refrigerator, use it in an omelet for lunch. Cooked corn, cut from the cob, broccoli flowerets, snipped snap beans and green peas will all add interest to the eggs.

MARINATE SEAFOOD

Marinate cooked seafood—lobster, crabmeat or shrimp—in a tangy French dressing; drain, mix with mayonnaise and use as a sandwich filling for buttered soft rolls. Garnish with pickles and potato chips for a good main course for lunch.

Make Spaghetti Alla Carbonara

1. MAKING SPAGHETTI ALLA CARBONARA—Boil spaghetti and fry bacon.

2. Grate Parmesan cheese

3. Drain spaghetti, turn cheese

4. Toss spaghetti with sauce—an art in itself.

ROME (AP)—You can make an authentic spaghetti dish — one that is more authentic than spaghetti and meat balls — in just a few minutes.

There's no need for hours-long cooking of tomato or meat sauce.

There's no tomato or meat sauce in this dish.

It is spaghetti alla Carbonara, an unusual and tasty pasta dish that will have your guests wondering how you ever dreamed it up and asking for more.

Children love it. They call it bacon-and-eggs spaghetti.

That's what it is — a concoction of spaghetti, bacon, eggs, Parmesan cheese, salt, pepper and a touch of garlic.

Spaghetti alla Carbonara was their answer.

It's not only a quick dish, but one where exact measurements do not matter and where variations are easy to dream up.

Through the years it has developed into a sometimes elegant dish served in the finest restaurants and homes of Rome.

Don't expect to find spaghetti-and-meat-balls in Rome restaurants. It's viewed as strictly an American dish in these parts.

But you'll have no trouble finding spaghetti alla Carbonara. Almost all Italian cooks serve it. Here's the recipe we like:

SPAGHETTI ALLA CARBONARA
 1/2 pound spaghetti
 1/2 pound sliced bacon
 1 clove garlic
 3 eggs
 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
 Salt and pepper to taste

Boil spaghetti according to package directions until tender but not mushy. Italians like their spaghetti "al dente" or toothy, soft but still hard enough to bite.

Just before putting the spaghetti to cook, fry the bacon with the peeled whole clove of garlic. Drain the bacon on paper, but leave the bacon grease in the frying pan to stay warm. Throw away the garlic. It's done its job, giving a bit of flavor to the bacon.

While the spaghetti is cooking, beat the eggs thoroughly in a large bowl that can later handle the whole batch of spaghetti. When the eggs are well beaten, add the grated cheese and salt and pepper. Use as much seasoning as you like, but keep in mind that the Italians like their spaghetti alla Carbonara as peppery as possible.

Beat the eggs, cheese, salt and pepper some more.

As soon as the spaghetti is cooked, take it off the stove and quickly drain off the water. Put the piping hot spaghetti in the bowl with the egg-cheese mixture and toss rapidly.

The heat from the spaghetti will cook the eggs during the tossing. But you have to mix it quickly to make sure each strand of spaghetti is coated and that the egg doesn't lump. Pour a tablespoon or two of the melted bacon fat on the spaghetti. Crumble the bacon over the spaghetti, then mix it some more.

After that you can serve it to four persons and enjoy it. Buon Appetito.

YVONNE DONON OF PARIS cooks Veau aux Carottes—a delightful combination of braised veal, lean bacon, sliced carrots and whole onions plus seasonings.

Get Gold Star For Good Cooking

PARIS (AP)—French men demand — and usually get — gold star cooking performances in the kitchen. This and high prices explain why the French lay out a record 45 per cent of their income for eating — compared to 19 per cent for Americans. But the reward is in such palate soothers as Yvonne Donon's Veau aux Carottes (Veal with Carrots) passed down from her great-grandmother, who lived in the gastronomically wealthy province of Burgundy.

VEAU AUX CAROTTES
4 to 6 tablespoons butter
1½ pounds boneless veal (shoulder or leg) in one piece
4 slices (8 ounces) lean bacon
1 pound carrots, sliced
4 medium-size onions, peeled and left whole
Salt and pepper to taste
1 teaspoon sugar
1 sprig thyme and pinches of basil
2-3 cup boiling water

Melt 4 tablespoons of the butter in a stew pot. Pop in the piece of veal and brown lightly; remove and lay aside. Brown the bacon lightly in the stew pot; remove and lay aside. Add the carrots and onions to the pot; turn to coat with the butter; remove and lay aside. If the pot is nearly dry, add 2 tablespoons butter. Then place the veal in the middle of the pot with the bacon on top. Place the carrots and onions around the meat. Add salt, pepper, sugar, thyme, basil and boiling water. Cover tightly and simmer until veal is tender — about 1½ hours. If the cover is not tight, peek into the pot after 30 minutes and, if getting dry, add more boiling water. When done, there should be only a very small amount of sauce. (If bacon is not lean, skim off fat from sauce.) If the veal resists slicing, the only way out is to cook for another 15 to 30 minutes. The dish may be prepared a day in advance and refrigerated. Then it should be gently — very gently — reheated for 30 to 40 minutes, and its flavor will be even better than when first made. Serves four.

1 egg yolk
1½ cups cold milk

Stir together graham cracker crumbs (from envelope), flour, sugar and salt. Cut in butter so it is in fine particles. Thoroughly mix in cold water and egg yolk. Refrigerate 1 hour. On well floured board, roll pastry ¼-inch thick. Cut into twelve 4½-inch rounds. Fit into 3½-inch tart pans. Prick sides and bottom. Bake in hot (425 degrees) oven about 15 to 20 minutes; cool. Man Caught Cashing a Stolen Check

A man trying to cash a stolen check in the First National Bank of Daly City last Tuesday was caught in the act when police, alerted when a bank official sounded a "silent" alarm, seized the suspect at a teller's window.

Charged with forgery was Leslie D. Sharp, 28, of San Francisco. He also was charged with possession of marijuana.

The arrest culminated this fast-moving sequence of events, according to Capt. David Hansen:

Shortly before 2 p.m., a man walked up to the window of teller Harry T. Denton of 6588 Mission Street, Daly City, and showed a $350 check across the counter.

The check had been issued by the Lou Orlando Trucking Company of San Francisco and was drawn on First National.

Denton checked the company's account and found it had been closed. A tag on the company's file stated that a quantity of checks had been reported stolen.

Denton alerted assistant cashier Michael D. Wyman of 65 Bismark Street, Daly City, who pressed a "silent" alarm that did not sound in the bank but sounded in Daly City Police Headquarters.

Captain Hansen, Sgt. Henry Sundermann and Patrolman Arthur Linhares responded and without drawing their pistols, surprised the suspect at the teller's window.

Hansen said the trucking company's checks had been reported stolen September 6 and that several of the checks had been cashed in San Francisco since that time.

He added that Sharp had been on probation after having served six months on a possession of marijuana charge.

After yesterday's arrest, officers searched Sharp and found two marijuana cigarettes in his possession, Hansen said.

Burlingame, will take the "yes" side. His opponent is president of the Save San Francisco Bay Association and general manager of the East Bay Regional Park District.

The meeting will be held in the county supervisors hearing room in the Hall of Justice in Redwood City.

CSM Students' Interview

'We're Not Draft Dodgers'

By BERENICE PALMER

WHAT IS THE Concerned Students Movement (CSM) at College of San Mateo and how did it evolve from the Viet Nam Day Committee activities there?

Two North County students, Aaron Manganiello of Daly City and Kenneth Marks of Pacifica, offered some explanations the other day in an interview.

Manganiello, together with Peter Pierce of San Mateo, organized the free speech movement (CSM) at the college after his suspension for soliciting funds on campus for the Viet Nam Day Committee.

Marks is chairman of the Liberal Caucus of College of San Mateo. Members of the caucus have aided CSM.

Both students criticized what they termed were "gross press distortions" and denied they were "agitators, draft dodgers or religious zealots."

"An idea on this campus," Manganiello quoted a college professor as declaring, "is like a drop of water on a hot stove — it sizzles and disappears."

THE STUDENT criticized what he termed a pathy among fellow students on campus. He gave this example:

A short time before Christmas vacation, a notice was passed around to students by a psychology professor.

It stated the holidays would

KENNETH MARKS
Caucus Chairman

be eliminated this year due to schedules, etc. and that classes would have to continue as usual.

Outside of some mild protest and grumbling there was little active reaction — more of a resigned acceptance. It all turned out to be a joke, Manganiello said.

He also criticized what he called campus red tape governing student activities.

"A student doesn't really know where he stands. Who knows how many attempts have been made by students that failed because of all the red tape? There has been very little campus activity for the last seven years because of all the formalities required."

Marks agreed. His Liberal

Caucus was organized during the Proposition 13 issue.

"We were not allowed to sell 'No on 13' bumper strips or buttons," he said. "We also asked to distribute anti-Viet Nam literature but were channeled into oblivion."

In defense of poor attendance by the Liberal Caucus at student council meetings, Marks claimed that there is little communication or representation — and much disagreement — between different student organizations. He described the student council as a "puppet of Dr. Bortolazzo" (Julio Bortolazzo, president of the college).

BOTH STUDENTS said they feel the college must now struggle to obtain its rightful freedom of speech. The Concerned Students Movement, they explained, asks for the same educational opportunities that state and university students have.

The CSM also is working to get a rules committee formed on the campus, made up of administration, faculty and students.

Of 7300 students, only 600 voted in the last council election. None of the CSM candidates gained the 20 per cent vote necessary to be elected but greater support is expected, they said, in the future.

A favorable opinion towards the Concerned Students Movement has been expressed by 14 faculty members, Manganiello said.

AARON MAGANIELLO
Free Speech Leader

MORE THAN 35,000 leaflets about the Concerned Students Movement have been given out at the campus and distributed at shopping centers along with the sale of buttons. The movement asks for "community support because the college is a 'community institution.'"

Once their objectives are established on campus, Manganiello said, CSM members hope for more Viet Nam Day Committee activities—teach-ins and even lectures at the local high schools.

"We want to get the whole community involved." (A chapter of the Concerned Citizens of San Mateo County, an adult protest group, is now forming in Pacifica.)

Debate on Vietnam Planned

A new Pacifica community group will present a public debate on the Vietnam war in the Community Room of the Sharp Park Library.

Pacificans for Human Concern will sponsor the program Friday, February 18.

Adult Education Classes To Open

The Jefferson Union High School District's Adult Education program moves into its spring semester beginning Monday with classes set at all four high schools in the district.

Registration for classes will be taken during the first week of instruction.

Separate registration is required for each class. Applicants must go to the first meeting of each class desired.

All classes are offered to the general public. There are no residence requirements. A $1 tuition fee will be charged each applicant.

Any person 18 years old or over is eligible to enroll in the program.

Last year's fall semester bristled with activities. Project

CABE (Community Action for Basic Education) and a new student advisory board were implemented, and the ground-work laid for this semester's official accreditation procedures.

Out of this and other action grew significant new ideas for adult education in the district, an expansion of the CABE project to satisfy President Johnson's master plan to obliterate inadequate education, and general higher standards for the regular adult program.

Expansion of CABE from one class at Jefferson High to classes at Oceana High in Pacifica and Natalie Lipman School in Brisbane now means that many more students will be able to go from first grade to a high school diploma virtually in their own neighborhood.

CABE provides the elementary school education and diploma, while the regular adult school program carries on from the ninth through the 12th grade. Considering that a high school education is needed in each of 71 occupations in which a manpower shortage exists, and that one out of ten American adults can't read or write well enough to use these skills in their jobs, the opportunities presented in this district take on special importance.

Also significant this semester are more stringent academic requirements in keeping with a general statewide upgrading.

There is now a JUHSD requirement of 160 units of work for adult graduation rather than the previous 150.

Extra classes have been added in the English and Social Science departments.

Also provided will be counseling service for guidance in the making up of programs.

Virtually all classes offered may be taken for high school credit (any person 18 years of age or over is eligible to enroll).

For further details, an attractive brochure is available at all places of registration, or will be mailed on request by phoning 755-1666. They will also be available in the public libraries and larger supermarkets in Pacifica and Daly City.

CHANGE STOLEN

Martin Palacio of San Francisco reported to Daly City police last week that thieves had stolen change from a coin box on an automatic washing machine at 1389 Brunswick Street.

'Lawmakers' Convene at Jefferson

STUDENTS of Jefferson High School listen to a talk by Frank Kane, chairman of the schools' annual Model Senate, which met for two days this month. Kane moderated the discussions and work with the students. Assemblyman Leo Ryan spoke at both meetings of the "senate." Students, portraying the role of real-life state senators, introduced and debated a number of bills and resolutions. (Post-Times Photo)

Journalists Attend S.F. Conference

Westmoor High School was among 21 schools represented at the Bay Area Journalism Conference hosted this year by Lowell High School of San Francisco.

Young "Rampage" journalists, Stacey Stack, Steph Le-Tourneau, Gale Goodwin, Steve Ziegler, and Brad Hansen, accompanied by adviser, Mrs. Doris Lindfors, attended the sessions.

To familiarize students with the professional world of journalism, guests were present to speak and answer questions.

Sports writers, Al Moss and Charles Downie represented the San Francisco Chronicle.

Terra Nova Topics

By MARIA MONTENEGRO

TERRA NOVA went to politics last week as campaigns for student body offices reached their full swing. Campaign buttons and campaign speeches descended upon the campus. On Friday elections were held.

Candidates who were elected and now fill the offices are: President, Ken Jenkins; vice president, Ana Vega; secretary, Cathy Simon; treasurer, Jeanne Carlo; commissioner's publicity, Betty Wiswell; rallies and entertainment, Kathi Grigg; athletics, Tom Horner, and student control and safety, Mike Gilton.

STIMAX, the campus company, recently negotiated a contract with an independent group of journalism students who have formed a press agency.

The purpose of this agency is to handle the company's publicity in relation to the press and other news media (not through advertising) and to publish a company newspaper which will come out shortly.

Through two other previous contracts STIMAX also has two business classes working as an advertising agency and secretarial pool.

The last stages of market analysis on product X will soon be completed and the long-awaited product X selected to be produced.

Questionnaires are being sent out to the public to test public opinion and thus determine the market value of potential product Xs.

Teen Drama Workshop

The Daly City Recreation Department's Teen Drama Workshop will present its production of "The Princess and the Pea" to the public at 2 p.m. on Saturday, January 29, at the Westmoor High School Little Theater.

Admission will be free. The production will be under the direction of Dave Regal.

Chess Club Will Elect First Officers

Plans have been made to hold the first election of officers for the Daly City Chess Club, sponsored by the City's Recreation Department.

The election will be held Monday, February 14.

The Chess Club meets every Monday night at the Westmoor Park Clubhouse on Edgemont Drive, next to Westmoor High School.

A five-man steering committee, with the help of the Recreation Department, has been in charge of the club's operation.

The group is also drawing up by-laws for the club, election of officers and a membership drive.

Committee members are Charles Morrell, Bob Yragui, Russ Hardy, Horst Toporzysek and Jack Keaneally.

The Year Of The Big Wind

ALL SIGNS AND portents indicate that this year of 1966 may bring California its loudest, most hectic, and most hard-fought political campaigns in history.

San Mateo County will have a copious helping of election excitement ranging from the congressional level, state legislative contests, and judicial posts, through a choice of the most important county offices.

Because of population increase, registration in both the state and the county should reach all-time high levels. With campaign heat already being generated many degrees hotter than usual, the record registration could bring out a record vote for what are sometimes called "mid-term" elections.

THE PRIMARY election this year on June 7, especially, will go to the grass roots and the general election on November 8 will concentrate the pressure and interest aroused in the primaries.

Contests nearly all along the line will vie for the attention of the voters. There will be enough of them to be almost bewildering in the primaries and local elections and the general election will add in possible run-offs and the many initiative measures that regularly burden the California ballot.

TO GIVE THE San Mateo County voter an idea of what is in store, here is the line-up:

At the federal level, there is a congressional race. At the state level there will be contests for governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, controller, treasurer, attorney general, the State Board of Equalization in four districts, state senators and assemblymen.

At the county level will come the election of three supervisors, the district attorney, the county engineer, the county clerk, treasurer, controller, assessor, tax collector, recorder, coroner, sheriff, superintendent of schools, five Superior Court judges, and at least two municipal judges.

And, as the man in the TV commercial says, "we haven't even started counting" the city elections, school board contests, and a probable variety of bond and assorted special issues.

Yes, indeed, politics is the word for 1966 and we are in for a massive dose.

The Marquee

Along Came A Producer

Barbara Bladen

THERE SHE WAS minding her own business when along came producer Peter Kump and cast Eleanor Wellman in a musical. Now "Money" is the topic of conversation in the San Carlos household.

Show business was a part of their past. Larry had been a scriptwriter in Hollywood and worked on the Joan Davis and Edgar Bergen shows. An ulcer sent him scurrying north, looking for peace and quiet and a less hysterical atmosphere.

He found it in the furniture business and set up shop at the Master Mart on El Camino Real and 25th Avenue in San Mateo.

Eleanor's early career began in Burlington, Iowa, where she sang and danced with a professional group during school vacations. From engagements with the Singing Sweethearts, she joined the Dorothy Dorben Dancers and performed in such big time clubs as the Chez Paree in Chicago, the Atomic in Houston, and the Biltmore Hotel.

She had worked with Jimmy Durante in Chicago and when she moved to Southern California, she looked him up and appeared on his television show. Then followed television commercials and appearances on the Harry von Zel-program, Stars of Tomorrow.

THE WELLMAN DUO soon turned into a trio with the birth of Mindy (now age 10). And so their wealth increased with Dee Dee (8½), Gregory (6) and Ronnie (1½).

But Eleanor's exuberance and creative talents didn't exactly come to a screaming halt when she became a Peninsula matron. She opened the Peninsula School of Dancing on the northwest corner of 25th Avenue and El Camino and for a year taught tap, ballet and acrobatic. That developed into ballroom classes at night and that developed into a lonesome husband. The studio closed.

Then her activities were confined to singing at ORT and Hadassah programs and she did the choreography for many of their shows.

Two days before Christmas, with show business the last thing on her mind, she received a call from Comedia Theatre in Palo Alto asking her to please help them out. Their leading lady had dropped out of the show and the only female role in a cast of four needed someone with experience in singing and dancing.

WITHIN A WEEK Eleanor had learned the difficult music which shifts from five sharps to six flats. "We cancelled a trip to the snow and I opened on New Years Eve. The family was wonderful, the children bring me breakfast in bed and my husband treats me like a movie star."

Eleanor isn't the only one benefiting from the change of pace. She claims that her husband has spent his nights at home writing, a pastime he seldom indulged in when she was around to talk or watch television with him. And the youngsters help with the chores and apply themselves more diligently to their schoolwork as an expression of their pride in her.

"Larry has written several beautiful love stories and poems to me during nights when I'm rehearsing or weekends when I'm performing. I guess couples take each other for granted when they're around the house together all the time. Now he tells me how much he appreciates me and he's been as considerate and attentive as a Don Juan."

Westmoor High School

WESTMOOR High School, the second school to be built by the Jefferson High School District, opened its doors in September of 1957. First year enrollment was 1,192 students, many of whom had attended classes in Jefferson High School the year before when Jefferson was on double sessions. Principal of Westmoor is Glenn South who has served in that capacity since the school opened. Enrollment now totals about 2,170 students. The school was designed for 1,618 students and the state-authorized capacity is 2,090.

Green Stamps Policy Defined

Lorene Beasley

AN EXECUTIVE of Sperry & Hutchinson declined a congressional invitation to testify at an informal hearing on trading stamps on the grounds that "the fundamental issues belong in the market place and not in the halls of Congress."

The Federal Government had accused Sperry & Hutchinson (S & H Green Stamps), the nation's leading stamp company, of illegally pressuring store keepers to keep them from giving away "bonus" stamps.

The Government challenged the company's effort to require merchants to dispense only one stamp for each ten cents worth of purchases.

The Federal Trade Commission said this effort deprived the consumer of additional trading stamps and unfairly interfered with the merchant's conduct of his business.

S & H COUNTERED, "In the conduct of its business, S&H sells the use of its trading stamp service. It does not sell its trading stamps."

"Instead, in order to retain control of its service and the value of the service to its licensees, S&H must insist upon the strict non-transferability of its stamps."

The stamp company contended that it should have the right to develop and supply the service, which it believes to be the best, and that it has the right to control misuse or abuse of its service.

ACCORDING to an S & H spokesman, "an increasingly common device, which seeks to destroy the non-transferability of S&H stamps, and one of the most harmful, is the so-called trading stamp exchange."

"These exchanges are run by entrepreneurs who wish to arrogate to themselves the advantages of dealing in the stamp system without paying for the privilege, who offer for a fee—uniformly exorbitant in regard to the actual value of the stamps exchange—to exchange trading stamps for the trading stamps of another trading stamp company and vice versa, and who buy and sell all brands of trading stamps."

The S&H company licenses the use of its trading stamp system to groups of non-competing retail merchants throughout the country who, in turn, issue the stamps to their cash customers as both a discount and a promotional device.

THE S&H Company further pointed out that "the S&H merchant licensee pays a fee to S&H for the privilege of issuing S & H stamps."

"He counts upon his customers coming back again for more stamps. Another advantage to him is the cash transaction that the merchant derives from using S & H trading stamps."

"If his customers can exchange or otherwise dispose of their stamps before they have filled their books by the purchase of additional merchandise from him, or if his customers can obtain S&H stamps without patronizing him by purchasing them from trading stamp exchanges or by obtaining them from such exchanges for some other kind of trading stamp, then the merchant loses much of the benefit of his bargain with S&H."

THE NATIONAL Better Bureau asked the Sperry and Hutchinson Company concerning its stand on the pooling of stamps for a charitable cause.

The company advised the bureau "that S & H has no objection whatsoever to the pooling of its stamps among its bona fide collectors if they merely request its permission to do so."

"It will and it must however, seek to enjoin any and all trading stamp exchanges or anyone else seeking to destroy the non-transferability of its stamps."

That Mania On The Ski Slopes

Don Miller

AT THE RISK of sounding like someone who had just arrived in the midst of a long-running play, we'd like to ramble on this morning about the business of swooshing down a snow-covered slope on a pair of seemingly too-long, seemingly too narrow wooden or metal slats.

We're speaking, of course, of skiing, a sport that is growing in the West and California at about the speed that an Atlas booster rocket lifts off its pad at Cape Kennedy.

On any winter weekend in the Bay area that anything approaching adequate skiing conditions is reported in the Sierras, you'll see a great, long caravan of ski-laden autos plying their way up the foothills along Routes 50 and Interstate 50, headed for an ever-increasing number of ski resort areas that ring the Lake Tahoe area.

To say that the operation of a ski resort in these times has become big business would be to state only the obvious after a glance at the slopes of some of the major resorts on a good-for-skiing weekend.

For the slopes are so peopled with the downhill mob that from afar, the inclines look like giant sugar mounds, swarming with legions of ants. One may validly complain about the jams on the Nimitz and Bayshore Freeways but they pale in comparison at times to the crush on some of these Sierra ski runs.

THE OTHER WEEKEND or so ago, we decided to "investigate" this spiraling interest in the downhill craze and with a substantial number of second thoughts about it all, decided to make it an in-depth investigation by taking up slats and poles and liniment and giving it the first person try.

Not having skied for seven years, we could see disaster lurking around the first turn—particularly since on the last outing, we had wrenched an ankle badly—not going down the slope, mind you, but on the rope tow going up.

Somehow, there's something terribly embarrassing about not being able to walk for a week because you couldn't manage to handle such a simple device as a ski rope tow and perhaps this is the reason that skiing was suspended for the next seven years.

At any rate, our excursion to the slopes the other weekend was preceded by a certain amount of necessary planning—like equipment and such—and it is another hallmark of the Sierra mania that today you can rent the whole business from skis to boots for not an unduly large outlay.

The rental fee is usually good from Friday afternoon to Monday morning and some ski shops, to avoid the crush of skiers jamming up on Fridays, permit you to pick up your equipment on Thursdays.

(One word of advice might be inserted here for those of you who will take the rental route: be sure your boots fit your skis properly and more important, be sure you fit the boots that fit the skis. We've heard too many sad tales of pinched toes and unraveled equipment because the wearers failed to take these elementary precautions.)

WITH OUR equipment thus in tow and spirits beginning to rise a bit with the knowledge that everything seemed to fit and maybe we could fake it after all on those tricky turns, we set out for the Sierras in general and the Heavenly Valley ski resort near State-line in particular.

At Heavenly Valley, as at other ski resorts these days, the degree of experience recommended for each slope is identified by signs and bright, colored symbols. Thus, there are runs for the beginner, the intermediate and the expert skier.

We won't kid you by saying we were brash enough to set out for anything more than the beginner's area after a seven-year hiatus and we would be less than honest in not reporting that the beginner's slope looked to us like the expert's run, mis-labeled.

However, this was to be an investigation of the skiing craze in depth and if that depth meant three feet under snow after a tumble, then so be it. So away we went and although the form wasn't exactly Olympic, it was apparently sufficient to maintain somewhat of a right angle between skier and slope and to our great surprise, we reached the bottom in one skiing entity.

THIS UNEXPECTED development immediately prompted several more runs down the beginner's slope with more surprising results and with the cockiness that accompanies success in ventures of this kind, we abandoned the beginner's slope for some of the intermediate ones.

To shorten this report a bit, we'll note that everything went fine until someone suggested that an intermediate (??) slope up around 9,500-foot elevation would not be too difficult for us. With brashness now in full flower, we eagerly took up the challenge.

At this point, the seven-year intermission caught up and a drama that could have been entitled, "Disaster on Skis," unfolded in all of its unfortunate aspects. Suffice to say that the seat of our ski pants turned out to be the primary means of reaching the bottom of said intermediate (??) slope and from a distance, the whole production must have looked like a skier practicing a comedy act for a winter carnival.

AFTER A day of skiing, it's the modus operandi for those so inclined to adjourn to the bar in the ski lodge and swap yarns of derring-do on the runs. Those skiers who have taken more than their share of falls during the day usually don't have much to say—they're still trying at that altitude to catch their breath—so they just listen to the "experts."

However, there's another highly vocal group at these after-ski sessions who shouldn't have much to say but do. These are the people turned out in the most correct ski attire who never get out of the ski lodge all day.

It is not our intention to say whether these people have the right idea or not for a skiing weekend but at the conclusion of a week of nursing complaining muscles, we can't help but wonder if THAT type of weekend shouldn't be the subject of the next in-depth report.

The Characters Of Our Novels

Samuel Chandler

"DON'T THEY ever write novels about nice, ordinary people like you and me?" a lady asked after reading my review of Mel Heimer's "A Family Affair."

"Not often, it seems. We ordinary people are like a character in the comic strip about Snuffy Smith. 'There comes Ol' Miz Barlow,' she says, 'Her gossip is too ordinary for normal folks.'"

We normal folks are not interested in ordinary things. In our reading and our search for entertainment, we are like an artist in one of Bagehot's essays who passed through a hundred country scenes "rich with beauties, charms and merits" but remained idle until he found one—the 101st—which made him shout: "How picturesque," then he went to work.

Having realized our feelings, authors seek to capture the reader's attention with books and scripts that present characters who stand out from other people or pass through outstanding adventures.

TRULY GOOD authors are not contemptible of ordinary men or their tactics, however. They know that great characters are outstanding representatives of the classes of men. Great characters are the embodiment of the times.

When reading problem novels, one should keep this in mind: if an author is picturing something amiss in society, his characters may be more evil than the ordinary people in the class that they represent.

One test of a novel is the authenticity of the characters. Do they seem real? Are the newspapers full of stories about people like these? Are their adventures believable? If the answers are yes, the book is worth your consideration.

MANY MODERN writers present a character who is more noble than the class he represents. William Faulkner has his heroes stand up for virtue and nobility in the face of a decaying society.

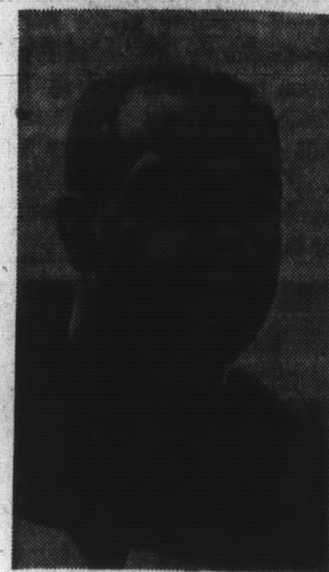

Steinbeck's characters in "The Grapes of Wrath" continue to fight conditions—economic and otherwise—when others surrender. Salinger's Franny wants something better than contemporary society provides.

While such characters may not be nice, ordinary people, they make our lives richer by helping us to see ourselves. While entertaining us—it is hoped—they lead us towards a better world for all.

STORIES WITH such characters stand out in modern literature as the characters shine among people. They embody an idea, a dream, a hope. The dirt is depicted as well as the good, perhaps to make the reader mad or to show him a mirror of society.

It is never fair to brush aside such a novel because it disagrees with one particular set of morals, or mars one's picture of the land of the free and the home of the brave.

The San Mateo Times third annual Hall of Fame sports night for 150 top newspaperboys and their fathers, has been scheduled for February 21 at the San Mateo Elks Club.

The evening's program will include the appearance of top celebrities from the sports world.

Already scheduled to take part are such well-known figures as Tom Meschery, San Francisco Warrior basketball star, and R. C. Owens, former gridiron great who is now a public relations representative for a major department store.

The two nationally-known figures will add local flavor to the program, both being residents of Belmont. They will show films which include highlights of their sports performances.

The Hall of Fame is an annual Times event in which more than 630 boys compete for awards.

The 150 boys winning invitations to the sports night will go on to compete for the top four prizes — a two-day all-expense-paid visit to the San Francisco Giants spring training camp in Phoenix, Ariz., April 2-3.

Other prizes include tickets for 25 boys to the Giants first Sunday home game, and 21 invitations to a Giants banquet.

S.S.F. Teacher Is Charged With Theft

A South San Francisco school teacher was charged last week with theft of public records—the documents dealing with his arrest and conviction on a traffic charge.

Deputy Sheriff Ray Garibaldi said a $15 fine for speeding had been imposed on the teacher, Richard D. Riemann, 29, by Municipal Judge F. Jose DeLarios, and that Riemann was taken to a cashier's window to pay the fine. Garibaldi said he deposited the documents in a box at the window and left.

Later, the deputy said, he happened to mention the case to the cashier and she said the man had not paid the fine. A check proved that the documents were missing.

Riemann was then picked up at Parkway School and was arrested on the theft charge. Garibaldi said he admitted taking the papers because he did not have enough money to pay the fine.

Riemann said, the deputy reported, that he intended to return the papers at a later date when he was able to pay the fine.

Businesses Show Boost

San Mateo County recorded a 25.7 per cent increase in businesses in 1965 over 1955 according to a report released by Dun and Bradstreet.

South San Francisco showed a 65.4 per cent gain. Daly City was up by 67.7 per cent.

There were 5,821 businesses listed in 1965, in the county—an increase of 1,530 over 1955.

Commission Hears Fog Complaints

Fog, so bad that it obscures a traffic light, was the complaint brought to the Pacific Safety Commission meeting Tuesday night by representatives of the Fairmont Improvement Association.

Members of the Safety Commission agreed to consult with the city engineer to help alleviate the fog problems of Fairmont residents, especially automobile commuters returning home on Skyline Drive.

Re-alignment of the Fairmont entrance at Hickey Boulevard and Skyline, and other methods to improve visibility, will be studied by the commission.

In other action, the commission will make a recommendation to the City Council that parking be allowed on one side of Paloma Avenue only.

Residents of the Ocean Park Manor Improvement Association in the Sharp Park District cited the congestion on narrow Paloma Avenue due to its use as a main thoroughfare to the Coast Highway.

New officers elected at the Tuesday meeting were: Ed Bly, chairman; Wally Rapozo, vice chairman, and Ruth Horanzy, secretary.

De Roche Heads S.M. Exposition

Penn De Roche has been named president of the Northern California Industrial Exposition to be displayed at San Mateo County fairground's Hall of Flowers, February 2 to 5. Phil Freeman has been named the general chairman for the event.

Gaining Weight

In a nation whose principal nutrition problem, and maybe its most important health problem, is overweight, there are actually many persons who want to, and ought to, GAIN weight.

Underweight is generally regarded as an advantage in terms of long life and relative freedom from the diseases and discomforts that go along with overweight. In general this is true, and there is validity in the old proverb that a lean horse is best for a long race.

But there are disadvantages to underweight, besides the nickname "skinny." The body requires a certain amount of fat in the right places for comfort and good health. Under the skin there is normally a layer of fat which acts as an insulator to help keep the person warm, and plays a part in forming the more pleasing contours of the body, especially the feminine body. Pads of fat in the abdomen, and in the apron-like curtain called the omentum which covers the intestines, help to support internal organs in their places. Fat also plays a part in joints.

The long and overly lean individual is more susceptible to certain chest conditions, including tuberculosis, and digestive troubles of the ulcer type, than is the person of normal weight or above.

How, then, can the underweight person put on more pounds? The procedure is the reverse of that recommended for losing weight. The first step is the same—namely a complete medical examination. Before one can hope to gain weight one must be free from disease conditions which keep the weight down. When this has been established, the procedure then is as follows:

1. Try to eat more; if necessary eat more often;
2. Eat more of the foods that furnish more calories in small bulk; butter, cheese, meat, eggs, sweets, chocolate, cream;
3. Reduce activity; sit more and stand less, ride more and walk less;
4. Whenever possible, rest or nap after eating.

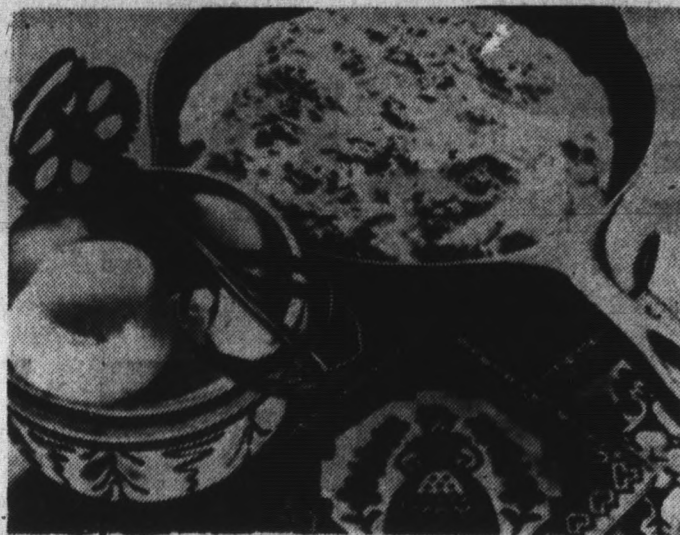

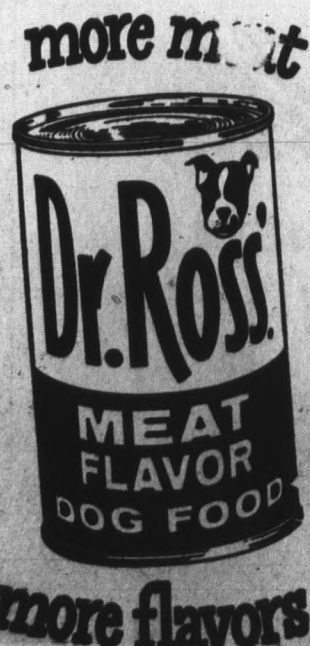

Of course, in choosing your foods, be sure to include the necessary variety from the four

... ANX APPETITE, but — low calorie peaches are used in skillet bread, to be eaten by weight watchers.

Here's Diet Peach Skillet Bread That Weight-Watcher Can Enjoy

Even the strictest of calorie watchers often feels a craving for bread. If you are one of them, you can still have it, if you make Peach Skillet Bread. It's a heavy, coarse textured yeast bread, so good when you're hungry.

There's no kneading, no double rising period. All you do is mix the low-calorie sieved peaches with yeast, flour and seasoning; pour into an iron skillet, let rise and bake.

Since this bread is not too sweet, it may be served along with the breakfast eggs, luncheon or dinner entree.

Give yourself a delightful treat with this low-calorie recipe.

PEACH SKILLET BREAD

1 can (303) Diet Delight low-calorie peaches
1 yeast cake
3 cups flour

2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon non-caloric sweetener
1 dash angostrua bitters (optional)
1 beaten egg
1 tablespoon caraway seeds
Drain peaches. Warm ½ cup of the fruit syrup slightly (should be lukewarm) and mix the yeast. Sieve peaches or whip in an electric mixer or blender and mix well with yeast, flour, salt, sweetener and bitters. Put dough in lightly greased, medium-sized skillet with metal handle, or share into a round loaf on a cookie sheet. Brush lightly with beaten egg and sprinkle with caraway seeds. Let rise until about double in volume and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) until brown (25 to 30 minutes). Yield: 8 large servings, 171 calories each.

OLIVE APPETIZERS

OLIVE CHEESE ROLL

Ripe Olives Cold Or Hot for Hostess

Ripe olives, hot; ripe olives, cold; ripe olives in the pot nine days old. If the nursery rhyme for pease porridge can even be used to indicate the versatility of California canned ripe olives, we have made our point. And it's a point to heed, for this is a month for party-giving... little luncheons, big buffets, after-game get-togethers... and important birthdays. Anyway you look at it, you're going to be faced with some hungry people.

The natural place to start is with hors d'oeuvres. That's a natural place for ripe olives to be... whether in a simple relish bowl or speared on a fancy kabob like these Olive Appetizers with marinated steak and shrimp. With the number of small, inexpensive charcoal cookers available, this do-it-yourself hors d'oeuvres has become one of the most popular. It requires the minimum of prep labor and eliminates the problems of keeping food hot and passing.

Open a can of the least expensive ripe olives for this Olive Cheese Roll. You chop them up, so it really doesn't matter if they're large and glamorous. The mellow, nutty flavor of the olives melds with that of bleu cheese and herbs to make a blend that is wonderfully compatible with whatever you are serving to drink. This is one cheese mixture that must be made several hours in advance for easiest slicing.

When you see how well canned ripe olives mix, you'll invite them to all your parties.

RIPE OLIVE APPETIZERS
1 pound sirloin steak (1-inch thick)
1 pound cleaned, cooked shrimp
1 cup canned California pitted ripe olives
1-3 cup salad oil
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
½ teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
½ teaspoon salt
Broil steak to rare. Cut into bite-size pieces. Combine with all remaining ingredients. Marinate several hours. Alternate olives, steak and shrimp on skewers. Heat over small hibachi. Good hot or cold. Makes about 24 hors d'oeuvres.

CALIFORNIA OLIVE CHEESE ROLL

1 cup canned California ripe olives
8 ounces bleu cheese
1 (8-ounce) package cream cheese
¼ cup butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons finely chopped green onions
Finely chopped parsley
Cut olives into chunks. Blend together cheeses and butter until smooth. Stir in olives, lemon juice and onions. Shape into long roll about 1½ inches in diameter. Roll in parsley to coat, then roll up in foil or plastic wrap. Chill at least 3 hours. Slice and serve on crackers or toast rounds. Makes 3 dozen appetizers.

PIZZA TOAST
By far the simplest and one of the most popular hors d'oeuvres is this Pizza Toast. Ripe olives are mixed with canned tomatoes, grated cheese and a bit of oregano. This exceptionally fresh tasting combination is spread on toast, baked and cut into mouthfuls.

½ cup canned California chopped ripe olives
½ cup canned tomatoes
1 cup grated American cheese
Pinch garlic salt
Pinch oregano
7 slices buttered toast
Cut olives into chunks; mix with well drained tomatoes, cheese and seasonings. Spread on buttered toast. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 12 to 14 minutes until cheese has melted. Cut each slice into quarters. Serve hot. Makes 28 hors d'oeuvres.

ROAST BEEF TARRAGON

BEEF STROGANOFF

Get More Mileage From Your Beef

It's a woman's nature to ponder over a beef roast before she buys it. How far will it go? Can I get away with the cheaper cut? What will I do with what's left? Woman's calculations are not always as right as her intuition, but you can be assured that she'll find a way to use every scrap of that good beef.

A rotisserie, if you have one, is a wonderful way to roast. The slow, even temperature seals in the good meat juices; the fat is self-basting and the roast-in-the-round is a beautiful color. If you'd like to vary the flavor, you'll find it easy to apply this Oriental baste with soy sauce, sherry and oil. Or try the tarragon baste with wine and butter.

When it comes to the cut of the boned and rolled beef they may all look alike to your husband, but you know better. For a big family of beef-eaters, you probably won't mind sacrificing a little quality for quantity. In the case of California beef the less expensive rolled roasts are only a little less tender, with all the flavor and sometimes even more than the very choice roasts. Your butcher can bone and roll a beef chuck or give you a sirloin tip, a cross rib or the fanciest tenderloin. It all depends upon the occasion.

Leftover?

What will you do with what's left? Sour cream beef, for one thing. It's a down-to-earth stroganoff with wide appeal. You can stir beef into any number of soup-sauces and spoon the mixture over rice, noodles or potatoes. But possibly the favorite way to use it is as plain cold roast beef. A nice big sandwich with horseradish and mustard or any of the suggestions in the following beef briefs.

ROTISSERIE ROAST BEEF TARRAGON

A boned and rolled California beef roast bastes itself on a rotisserie. Baste in some extra flavor with either of these good sauces.

1 (5-pound) boned and rolled chuck roast

Garlic (optional)

1-3 cup white wine

1 teaspoon tarragon

1 teaspoon salt

1 tablespoon melted butter

Make sure roast is tied securely. If using garlic, cut small deep slits in meat and insert garlic slivers. Balance beef on spit; insert meat thermometer in center of beef.

Roast according to manufacturer's directions in oven or rotisserie to desired degree of doneness, basting every 15 minutes with wine combined with tarragon, salt and butter. Cook to 130 degrees F. internal temperature for rare beef, 140 degrees F. for medium rare and 160 degrees F. for well-done. Remove from heat. Let roast stand 20 minutes before carving. Meat will continue cooking. Rare beef will register 140 degrees F. at serving time. A 5-pound rolled roast will cook to rare in about 1 1/2 hours.

ORIENTAL BASTE: Combine 1/4 cup soy sauce with 1/4 cup sherry and 1 tablespoon cooking oil.

ON THE DOUBLE BEEF STROGANOFF

It's best to heat cold meat quickly in a good sauce so it won't toughen. This variation of the popular stroganoff is just what we mean.

1-3 cup chopped celery

3 tablespoons butter

1-3 cup flour

1/2 teaspoon salt

1 (3-ounce) can sliced broiled mushrooms

1 tablespoon instant minced onion

1 (10 1/2-ounce) can condensed bouillon

1 cup dairy sour cream

1 1/2 cups thinly sliced cooked beef

Chopped parsley

Cook celery in butter until tender crisp. Stir in flour and salt. Add undrained mushrooms, onion and bouillon. Cook, stirring until mixture boils and thickens. Stir in sour cream with avocado slices. Delicious served with sour cream accented with horseradish and seasoned salt. A hearty sandwich for the man in your life.

Beefy Rolls: Spread softened cream cheese mixed with a dash of horseradish, salt and parsley over very thin slices of roast beef. Roll up beef and chill. Cut each roll into 1/4-inch slices. Perfect for hors d'oeuvres.

LENTEN SOUP

Here is a filling and off-the-beaten-track soup for Lent: Heat cut Blue Lake green beans and canned cubed carrots, undrained with flaked tuna. Add hard-cooked egg wedges and shredded western iceberg lettuce when serving. Pass hot sliced French bread.

LET'S KNIT

With Illustrated Patterns
By Ursula duBois

Elegant, Yet Practical Coat

It is not all in one piece—but it can be. Lori Saunders of CBS television's "Petticoat Junction" is modeling a coat that snaps together in sections.

The first section is a sweater; add the second section—it becomes a street length coat; add the third section—and it transforms into an evening coat! What could be better for a limited traveling wardrobe?

Of course, the coat can be knitted in one piece too. Oh yes, large needles together with a lacy stitch see real fast completion of this terrific garment—or is it garments?

Illustrated instructions are written in sizes 12 through 22. All sizes are included on one pattern.

To obtain pattern No. 62, send 50 cents in coin, check or money

Your Weekly Knit Clinic

A few weeks ago, upon the request of several knitters, I had asked for help on embroidering those lovely knit garments.

Thank you for the many letters offering easier solution. One idea came from Mrs. A. C. Lange that was most logical and I am surprised that it is not more known.

She uses cotton batiste and spray starches it. Then she traces her design and the colors to be used onto the starched fabric. (Organdy, buckram, or materials any of which are available in fabric stores.) Now she bastes this material onto her garment and works through the material and the knitted part of the garment.

Naturally I had to give this an immediate try. It really makes embroidering on knitwear so easy that "a child can do it!"

After the embroidery is finished, trim the excess material away with a small, sharp-pointed scissor. After one washing, retrim any stray fiber.

NOTE: Be sure to check that the yarn that you are going to use for embroidering is colorfast.

Miss duBois welcomes mail from readers but cannot give a personal answer. She will discuss and pass on the most interesting questions and hints.

No. 10 — Know-how Knitting Booklet, 35 cents.

No. 71—Knit Stitch Tabulator, 35 cents.

Pupils Hear 2 Speakers

Students in Westmoor High School's social studies classes heard guest lectures last Wednesday afternoon on the subject of planned community apartment living.

Gerson Bakar and Mary Anne Gianni of the Woodlake Apartments in San Mateo, a new apartment complex designed specifically for community living, showed slides, gave a short talk and answered questions from students.

Bakar's talk concerned new concepts in community planning. Mrs. Gianni, director of recreation at Woodlake, showed slides about "The Rich Life of Leisure."

Bakar, developer of Woodlake and similar projects, titled his talk, "Man and the Land."

Upon completion, Woodlake is scheduled to house over 1,600 residents.

ALBERT POLONSKY, Daly City councilman, has been reappointed to serve on the Home Rule Committee of the League of California Cities for a second term. Purpose of the committee is to consider the basic problems relating to the maintenance of home rule authority for cities.

Pacific Advised to Find Refuse Question Solution

The city of Pacifica must find a satisfactory method of disposing of its garbage or face a dim and filth-filled future according to city manager Karl Baldwin.

Baldwin decried the city's lack of an adequate disposal of the North Coast County Water District.

"We are making an effort to clean up Pacifica," he said and pointed out the city's inability to enforce a garbage service.

New legislation allows combination of garbage service and water bills.

"Many people," Baldwin stated, "refuse to have a trash collection, or they ignore their bills. If we stop the service, the trash and garbage just pile up, then it becomes a city health problem. The effect shows elsewhere in our city—garbage and trash are being dumped on roads, on our beaches and in empty lots."

A combined billing system,

similar to that of Daly City, was proposed.

The City Council supports the combination plan.

In other business, the Water Board approved plans for two new water systems at the Doelger Shopping Center near Skyline, and in Park Pacifica number two in Linda Mar.

It also accepted a new 600,000 gallon water tank in Fairmont built by the Doelger Corporation.

Approval was also given for destruction of existing old buildings on the former Collard property lot adjacent to the Water District Office in Sharp Park.

The property has been purchased by Pacifica for an addition to the Water District Plant.

COAT STOLEN

Margaret Vannucci of 32 Northgate Avenue, Daly City, reported to police last week that a full length mink coat had been stolen from her home.

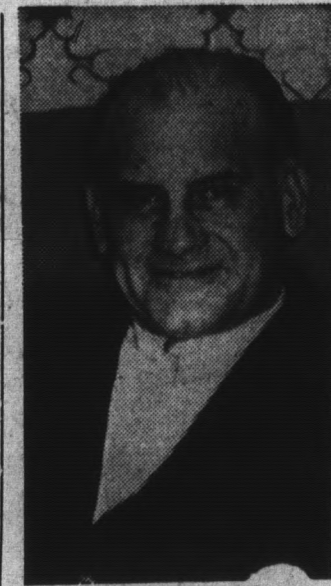

Air Force Will Offer Commissions

It was announced last week by Sgt. William Gill, Air Force recruiter, that for the first time the Air Force is offering commissions to married female nurses.

Also, according to the sergeant, the Air Force is in need of qualified nurses who have had prior military service in any branch of the armed forces.

"The Air Force offers almost unlimited opportunities for nurses to gain experience and advancement," he said. There are educational opportunities available, both professional and academic. While on active duty, nurses enjoy the same pay and privileges as do other Air Force officers.

The starting salary for Air Force nurses ranges from approximately $5,100 to $7,200 annually. Among the privileges enjoyed by Air Force nurses is an annual 30-day paid vacation.

Judge Supports Dorado Decision

By DON MILLER

The now-famous Dorado case was defended Thursday by Judge Melvin T. Cohn, presiding judge of the Superior Court of San Mateo County, in a speech to the Daily City-Colma Chamber of Commerce at the Friar Room of Serra Bowl.

In response to a question about the case after he had discussed the functions of Superior Court, Judge Cohn declared, "I don't think that the Dorado case has hampered law enforcement." The English have been doing this for a long time.

As a result of the Dorado case ruling, law enforcement officials are required to notify a suspect of his right to counsel and his right to not say anything once an investigation has focused on him.

Since the ruling was handed down in California, law enforcement agencies have been critical of the opinion as a bar to the investigation of crime.

Judge Cohn compared the new ruling to a change in the rules of a game.

"It's the sort of thing we Americans have been used to for hundreds of years. It's an effort to guard everyone's constitutional rights."

Noting that the ruling may have "freed some people who shouldn't be on the streets," the jurist asked:

"Do we guarantee our freedoms or follow some expediency that might lead to the loss of the freedoms we have fought to protect?"

In response to another question about the ban against televising court proceedings, Judge Cohn replied he had mixed emotions about the subject.

"I recognize the freedom of the press," he remarked, "but on the other hand, we have a responsibility to people whose cases we're trying."

He questioned whether attorneys would be "playing to the cameras" or whether judges facing an election would worry about making an "unpopular" decision if television were permitted in courtrooms.

"I'm just wondering if television would lead to an injustice."

In his talk about the role of superior court, Judge Cohn linked a community's business climate with the caliber of its courts.

"If you've got an honest, hard-working court, it creates a type of climate in which people like to work and live. Often, this kind of climate doesn't exist in many communities and in other states."

Judge Cohn opened his remarks with the observation that "the general public doesn't have too much conception about what we're doing and how we're doing it." And he added:

Toughest Job For A Judge

What's the toughest job for a superior court jurist?

Serving as a domestic relations judge, Melvin T. Cohn, presiding judge of the San Mateo County Superior Court, told Daily City-Colma Chamber of Commerce members Thursday.

It's probably the most miserable job there is," Cohn said, recalling a 15-month period he recently served in this capacity in the North County.

He cited an example where a wife, separating from her husband, says she needs $400 a month support for herself and three children while the husband, who has moved out of the family house, claims he needs $250 per month for himself.

The husband, however, makes only $400 a month. "So how do you stretch $400 into $650?" Cohn asked.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

After eating food containing sugar or carbohydrates, acid begins forming in your mouth. You should brush your teeth within fifteen minutes after eating before the acid has a chance to damage the enamel.

Use a tooth brush with a small head. Take time: Give the toothpaste a chance to work.

Brush down on upper teeth. Brush up on lower teeth. Force bristles into spaces between the teeth while brushing inner and outer surfaces.

Use scrubbing motion when brushing the chewing surfaces.

If you cannot brush your teeth after eating, you should rinse your mouth thoroughly with water.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit the practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to keep the use of your natural teeth as even as the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Woodlake Joe's Set To Open Wednesday, Feb. 9

A NEW RESTAURANT WITH a familiar name comes to San Mateo on Wednesday, February 9, adjoining the Woodlake apartment development on Peninsular Avenue. Named WOODLAKE JOE'S, the restaurant will seat 115 in its dining room and cocktail lounge which has a massive copper-covered fireplace as a focal point. According to co-owners VICTOR SCAFANI and JOHN GRAZIANO, Woodlake Joe's will serve both lunch and dinner seven days a week; the restaurant will be open from 11 a.m. until midnight. Scafani and Graziano also own the BRENTWOOD LODGE in South San Francisco, an establishment which has undergone three expansions in the past decade. The outside design of the new restaurant was done by the same firm who designed the entire Woodlake development—WURSTER, BERNARDI AND EMMONS. Woodlake's landscape designer, LAWRENCE HALPRIN, is responsible for the landscaping around the restaurant; the interior architecture and design is the work of Peninsula architect BERNARD NOBLER. Woodlake Joe's is the latest addition to the fast-growing Woodlake Shopping Center at Peninsular and Delaware Avenues, in San Mateo.

IF YOU'RE PLANNING to take the whole family out to dine, this weekend, you might try the King's Table in Redwood City which is managed by Carlo Fasolo. One of their specials every Monday night is the Broiled New York Cut Steak Dinner at only $1.50—and that's "All you can eat," plus four other hot entrees and 35 tantalizing salads... Augie and Phyllis April's Augie's on Third Avenue has had such tremendous success with their corned beef and cabbage luncheon that it's now a special on the menu every Thursday. It's a wonder how chef John Jacobson can turn out such a delicious meal at only $1.35 (includes choice of coffee, soup, or salad), but he does... New in the Topless revue at the Moulin Rouge are Kammi From Miami and Jan Storey... When you take the popular Seven Eleven Fun Trips to South Shore, your only stop en route is for dinner in Sacramento. Dinner is at International Cuisine restaurant, where you choose from Chinese, Mexican, Italian or seafood.

LEW LEHR had his four-year-old grandson, EDWARD SCOTT LEVIN, at his Marina steakhouse for dinner and afterward, suggested a walk. It was a chilly eve, and as they were walking, their breaths came out smoke-like as they talked. Whereupon, grandson Edward exclaimed to Grandpa Lew, "Look, Grandpa, you can see my words!"... Crowds emerging from FINOCCHIO'S in San Francisco, these nights, look like they have just come from a carnival because so many of the folks are carrying inflated balloons. The release of these constitute a colorful climax of the finale of the new current show, "Funtime Circus," and the whole room is soon filled with the varicolored rubber toys. Each bears the legend, "Finocchio's." It should be added that the latest Finocchio revue is just as distinctly novel as any of its many unique predecessors... For a fabulous view of the entire Bay Area: From the Terrace Room of the Berkeley HOTEL CLAREMONT you can see the East Bay, the San Francisco skyline and both bridges on clear days. The night view is spectacular!

NEW COCKTAIL LOUNGE AT LA TOURAINE — New cocktail lounge and bar at La Touraine in Burlingame is attracting big crowds to the delightful French restaurant, opposite the Postoffice.

THE NEW WELLINGTON ROOM AT PHIL LEHR'S STEAKERY was acclaimed as "elegant," "gorgeous" and "beautiful" at its grand opening. It's reminiscent of an old-time San Francisco millionaire's home with its sweeping staircase backed by a brilliant jeweled screen, old-time pianobar, paintings and adornments. A novelty is the TV from which those coming in the Carriage entrance at Taylor and Ellis can be seen from the interior... MARTY, the topless star at GEORGE FRANGES' always-popular BRASS RAIL in Sunnyvale, heads a nightly revue of six gyrating Go-Go Girls, who perform in the cages. Also featured is ROGER "Soul Singer" COLLINS, a bright young singer and hit record star. The entertainment and dancing are continuous every night... Fashion reigns supreme at the PLATEAU 7 in San Jose, where a luncheon fashion show is in progress every Monday afternoon starting at 1 p.m. Lovely SALLIE HUNTING, owner of the "Mademoiselle" Model Agency, is co-ordinator for the affair, which is now entering its third week.

ONE OF THE MOST WILDLY EXCITING Go-Go Clubs is located right on the Peninsula at the San Francisco Airport HILTON INN. It's called BILL GILBERT'S TIGER-A-GO-GO CLUB, and if you've never made the scene here, you're really missing out. AL KING, well-known talent agent, has booked the rapidly rising "DRIFTERS" (they've sold over eight million records so far), who will be accompanied by the musical versatility of "THE TRIBE," and talented pianist MAURICE ANGER, who's rated by many as the best in the business... ANTOINE DE VOS, handsome maitre d' at the swank CARROUSEL du SOLEIL, is the originator of the "Belgian Waffle," which gained national prominence because of its popularity at the Seattle World's Fair... Audiences at AL SWANSON'S OLD CHICAGO CLUB in Sunnyvale are howling with laughter night after night at the antics of comedian HOWARD EUBANKS, who tops the marquee, along with five very shapely strippers.

Sinaloa Preems Entire New Mexican Revue

Los Roquet, indisputably the top husband-wife duo in show business, opened, last week, at Luz Garcia's Sinaloa on Powell Street for what promises to be one of their greatest engagements ever. Vicky Alvarez, "the Latin Bombshell" who weighs in at 105, is the vivacious singer-dancer, who also stars in the show along with Lucy, Jose Luis, Olga and Tomas, and Raquel Flores.

Congrats to my good friend Ted Ince, general manager of the Sea Wolf restaurant on Jack London Square, Oakland, who has been elected president of the East Bay Restaurant Association.

SIL OLIVA'S Exposition Fish Grotto, one of the most colorful foodmarks on Fisherman's Wharf, San Francisco, was your hungry Bright Lighter's dining scene, the other p.m., and Waiter Leo Heckl was most helpful with menu suggestions. Calorie counters and those who don't care how many pieces of French bread they eat, are Leo's favorite customers.

The picturesque Jug of Wine restaurant at the Caravan Inn in Mountain View has been beautifully redecorated by Manager Frank Dennison, with the co-operation of Ray Kinzel, capable hotel and restaurant bigwig with Paul Masson. Eighteen fine Paul Masson Wines are featured on the menu.

Marie Alberghetti Leaning Tower Fan

Among the notables seen dining at Joe and Lou Ercoli's Leaning Tower in South San Francisco, recently, was vivacious actress Anna Marie Alberghetti, who couldn't wait to hit this area so she could feast on the Leaning Tower's famous Caesar Salad, followed by Joe and Lou's popular planked New York Steak.

Luncheons are served to groups and parties from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Saturday at the Burlingame La Touraine restaurant. This is a reservation affair; an ideal place for that special business meeting. Dinner is served nightly, Monday through Saturday, from 5 p.m. Ask for your favorite cocktails.

One thing I know for sure: Joe Cohen, president and general manager of the California Jockey Club and Bay Meadows, is a once-a-week sea food diner. He and his lovely wife, usually accompanied by a group of friends, make Vince's Sea Food restaurant their Peninsula "Fisherman's Wharf" stop.

Although most restaurants have their parking problems, not so at Bertolucci's in South San Francisco. Genial host-owner Larry Bertolucci recently employed Stan Weatherley, who not only watches your car while you're inside feasting on Mama Bertolucci's famous Cannelloni, but has it waiting for you seconds after you walk out the door.

Miss Keiko combines classical ballet and modern jazz in her show-stopping interpretation of "Madame Butterfly" in the Chi Chi's exciting "Topless plus" revue.

Opera Star At The Piano Bar

Something new has been started at Scotty Campbell's for piano bar "tenors": Theresa and Bud Urban have inked in Tony Balestrieri, former European opera star, whose musical talents are causing a late-evening "stampede" for cocktail lounge seats. This is a great opportunity for those who hit "high C" to give their all. So bring in your music (and your appetites) — Friday and Saturday evenings spotlights the fun.

Pacific's Enrico Romano wonders where the automobile industry finds all those empty roads to film the commercials on.

Cliff Chalet wound up its 60th anniversary week Saturday (overlooking Seal Rocks.) The entire crew dressed in Gay 90's outfits, free bags of peanuts dispensed (many with $20 merchandise orders).

Overheard at Cafe El Portal, in San Francisco: "If you combine a bee and a doorknob you get a humdinger."

Sediment Content Up In Reservoir

Junipero Serra Freeway construction alongside Crystal Springs reservoir has jumped the sediment reading to 15 parts per million, three times the approved standard, Utilities Manager James K. Carr told the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission last week.

Arthur H. Frye Jr., general manager of the city's water department, claimed that the State Division of Highways "lost control of the drainage ditches during the heavy rains in December."

Carr took pictures of the damage along the northern section of the San Andreas Reservoir to Washington to show Undersecretary of Commerce Alan S. Boyd why he wanted the route changed.

San Francisco is trying to obtain a routing change for a freeway along the reservoir. The city seeks to place the freeway on high ground, away from the water, so that drainage will go down slopes toward the ocean. The State Division of Highways is holding out for a straight line through the watershed.

Boyd told Carr he will study the city's argument.

Meanwhile, the commission gave Carr a $10,000 appropriation to deal with the crisis.

Sacha Heads Planners In Pacifica

Louis Sacha was appointed chairman, and Mrs. Mae Gee, vice chairman at the Pacifica Planning Commission annual meeting last week at Pacifica city hall.

The general plan for Pacifica was also given its yearly review at the meeting. This proposed use of land, formulated in 1960, has been undergoing yearly revisions by both the city park, beach and recreation department and by the commission.

Two re-subdivisions were also approved at the session:

Three building sites were carved from seven lots in San Pedro Terrace subdivision located between San Pedro Avenue and Kent Road, owned by J. S. Gough.

Three lots were merged into two lots at Salada beach in northern Sharp Park. The area is located south of Paloma Avenue, extending to Eureka Square on the East side of the coast highway and is owned by Ruel Bell.

Bank to Give Awards For Achievement

Local high schools are currently in the process of selecting outstanding students to compete in the 1966 Bank of America Achievement Awards program.

The selection by school faculties under the guidance and approval of the principal is the first step in what will ultimately result in cash awards of $1,000 to 16 of Northern California's finest all-around high school seniors.

All told, 1966 will see Bank of America awarding 6,400 certificates, 2,300 plaques and $99,000 in cash to seniors throughout the state, according to E. W. Casanova, vice president and manager of the bank's San Mateo branch.

He is serving as co-ordinator for the local competition in which these North County high schools are participating:

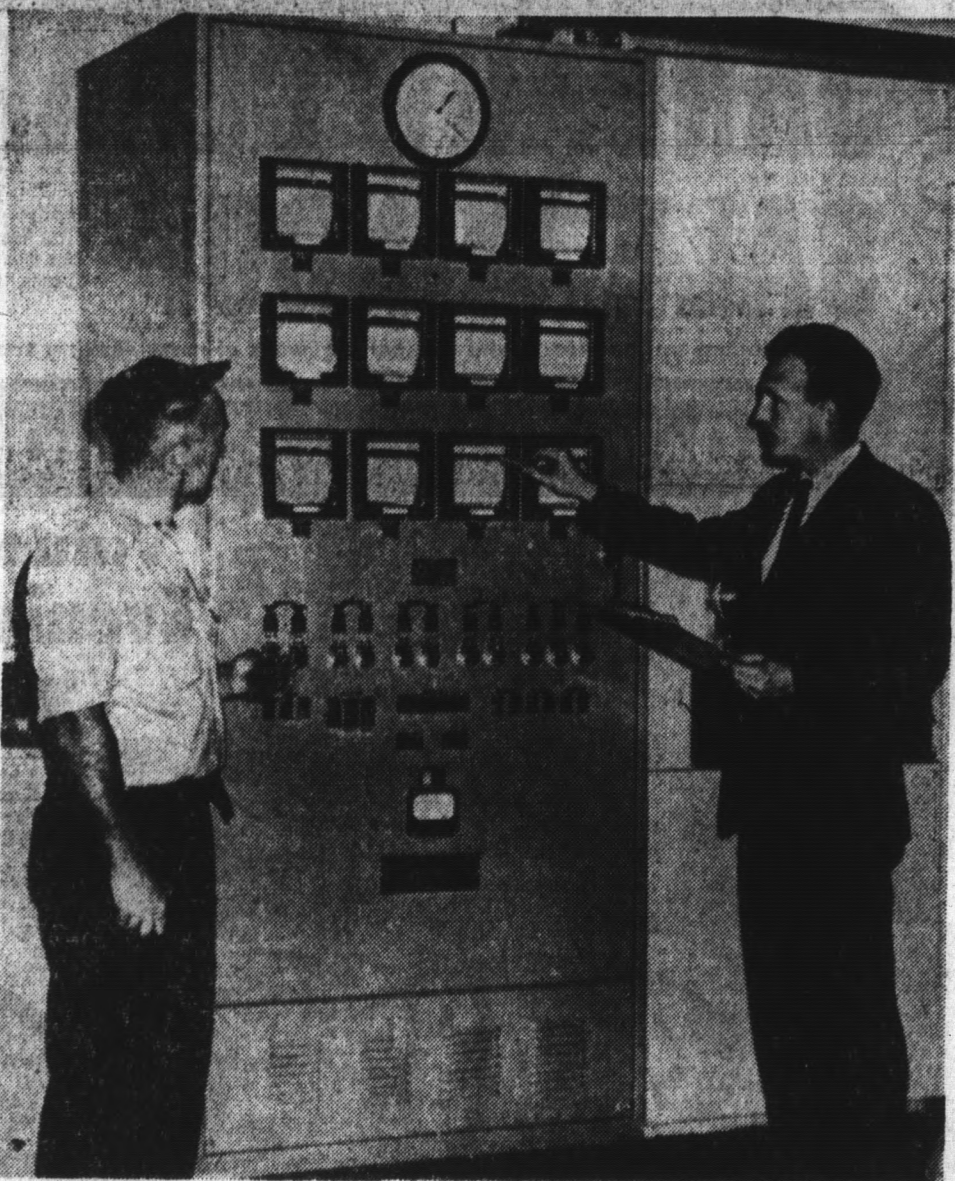

El Camino and South San Francisco, South San Francisco; Jefferson and Westmoor, Daly City, and Oceana and Terra Nova, Pacifica.

"Plaque award winners from each school have the opportunity to advance to zone competition in San Mateo April 14," Casanova pointed out.

Keeping an Eye on Things

GEORGE E. ALPHIN, Daly City's Water Supervisor, right, checks out pressure charts at the Niantic Avenue pumping station with Robert W. Bonham, a water department employee. The Niantic Avenue equipment allows Alphin and his staff to keep constant tabs on the Daly City water supply at all times.

(Post-Times Photo)

DALY CITY'S WELL SUPPLY

Water Under Its Feet

By JOHN HORGAN
FOR CALIFORNIANS, water always has been a mammoth problem.

But residents of Daly City can consider themselves lucky: their water supply is ready-made and close at hand — literally, right under their very feet.

Daly City utilizes a unique system of eight wells, the oldest of which was dug in 1913, for much of its water supply.

The wells, along with a system of eight reservoirs (counting a new one in Serramonte) supply this North County city of more than 64,000 people with all their water needs.

And those needs are not to be sneered at. According to George Alphin, Water Department supervisor, the average daily consumption of water in the city is over six million gallons.

When the city reaches its projected population of nearly 100,000 people some time in the future, the water department, along with the other city services, must accelerate its program.

Off past performances, the department will be quite able to do just that.

"The Daly City system of wells and reservoirs together is a truly unique operation," Alphin explained. "We have almost complete control over nearly every phase of the water system."

INTERVIEWED AT the nerve center of the water department, the offices and main pump station at 792 Niantic Avenue, Alphin said that he felt that the city could easily keep up with the population growth.

"It's a matter of staying right on top of the situation and adding as the population is anticipated. Besides, there is no added cost to the other residents of the city — the burden is borne by the new residents."

However, Alphin's job, a new one on the growing list of Daly City's roster of public servants (he was appointed to the post in July of 1965 when the position was created), is concerned not only with the future. The present also is of prime concern.

Alphin is daily confronted with a myriad of tasks. Among these are cleaning, repair, safety checks, chlorination, water line pressure checks, bacteria sampling and hydrant maintenance.

ONE OF THE more interesting problems that Alphin confronts is the "taste" of the water supply.

"We receive some complaints about the taste of our water, but about 90 per cent

Reservoir Under Way

A bid for the construction of a new reservoir to serve the water needs of the Serramonte area of Daly City has been awarded to a Southern California firm.

Gunther, Shirley and Penn Company of Baldwin Park bid nearly $150,000.

Construction has begun, according to a city water official.

The new reservoir will hold approximately ten million gallons of water.

of the cause of the complaints can be easily traced to the house itself," said the supervisor.

"We often get the complaint that there is too much chlorine in the water (Daly City water is not fluoridated), when in reality the complaint ought to be that there might be too little. We use only one-tenth of one part chlorine per million pounds of water. The taste is actually nil."

The city uses only eight pounds of chlorine per day in its entire water supply.

Bacteria samplings are taken at 25 special points in the city twice each month by the County Health Department. They are required by state law.

Water pressure checks, which are necessary because of the hilly nature of the North County area, can be taken at any time of the day or night at the Niantic Avenue pump station's glittering board of dials, graphs, lights and indicators.

The pressure in city mains ranges from 40 to 120 pounds per square inch over every pressure zone in the city.

The level of the reservoirs makes the difference in the pressure readings, but, as Alphin put it, "Things rarely go wrong here. Our main concern is for the fire department."

MAINTAINING ADEQUATE pressure for firemen is one of the most important jobs of the water department, Alphin indicated.

"We work closely with the fire department. We (both departments) operate on the same radio frequency and they (firemen) notify us of any pressure lows."

Questioned about the ability of the city to withstand a major fire (any fire over 10 hours is considered "major" by water officials) the supervisor said that "with the help of the San Francisco Water Department, we are doubly safe."

- eliminates color distortion
- improves "body," weight, draping qualities
- cuts radiant heat transmission
- eliminates need for separate lining
- needs no special care

New white Milium® insulated self-lining helps keep your home cooler in summer; warmer in winter; makes separate linings unnecessary. You save on lining fabrics, labor, air-conditioning costs in summer; heating costs in winter. It helps to protect upholstered pieces and floor coverings from exposure to sun and fading. Antique rayon satin: white, beige, gold, seafoam green, azure blue or nubby-textured rayon: white or flaxen beige. Now pure white, Milium® insulation becomes a self-lining, a permanent part of the fabric. It will not alter the color. Milium® improves fabrics, makes them more substantial, more beautiful, more economical.
